AUTHORIZATION:

Social Security Act of 1935, Title II, as amended; Public Laws 96-265; 97-123, and 97-35. 42 U.S.C. 401; 42 U.S.C. 402; 42 U.S.C. 416; 42 U.S.C. 420-425, Public Law 96-265, II

OBJECTIVES:

To replace part of the earnings lost because of a physical or mental impairment, or a combination of impairments, severe enough to prevent a person from working.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Direct Payments for Specified Use, Direct Payments with Unrestricted Use

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Monthly cash benefits are paid to entitled disabled persons and to entitled auxiliary beneficiaries throughout the period of disability generally after a 5-month waiting period. Costs of vocational rehabilitation also are paid for certain beneficiaries. There are no restrictions on the use of benefits received by beneficiaries, although the right to future benefits is not transferable or assignable. In general, State agencies make initial disability determinations for the Federal Government. The Federal Government gives the States funds, in advance or by way of reimbursement, for necessary costs in making disability determinations under 20 CFR 404.1503.

Applicant Eligibility:

Individual/Family: A disabled worker is entitled to Social Security disability benefits if he or she has worked for a sufficient period of time under Social Security to be insured, has not attained "full-benefit retirement age" (66 years old for workers age 62 in 2005), has filed an application, and is under a disability as defined in the Social Security law. The law defines disability as the inability to do any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months. The insured status requirements depend upon the age of the applicant and the date he or she became disabled. Coverage credits under the social security systems of certain foreign countries with which the U.S. has reciprocal agreements may be taken into account to meet the requirements. Certain family members of disabled workers are also entitled to benefits: (1) Unmarried children under age 18, or under age 19 for full-time students in elementary or secondary school; (2) unmarried adult offspring at any age if continuously disabled since before age 22; (3) wife or husband at any age if child in his or her care is receiving benefits on worker's Social Security record and is under age 16 or disabled; (4) spouse age 62 or over; and (5) divorced wives or husbands age 62 or over who were married to the worker for at least 10 years. (Benefits are also payable to auxiliaries, including certain disabled widow(er)s, disabled surviving divorced spouses, children under age 19 who are full-time students in an elementary or secondary school, and disabled children of the worker, after the worker dies. See 96.004 "Social Security-Survivors' Insurance".) For workers who are first entitled after 1985 for both (a) a pension based on non-covered employment; and (b) Social Security disability (or retirement) benefits, a less generous benefit formula applies. In addition, Social Security disability benefits are reduced (offset) by the amount that the sum of all disability benefits payable under Social Security and certain Federal, State, or local public disability and workers' compensation laws or plans exceeds the higher of 80 percent of the worker's average current earnings or the total Social Security benefit that would otherwise be payable on the disabled worker's record. The Social Security benefit for a spouse of a disabled worker is subject to a pension offset if the spouse receives a governmental pension based on his or her own work in non-covered employment. However, the offset does not apply if: (i) the person received or became eligible to receive the pension before December 1, 1982, and can meet requirements for Social Security auxiliaries' benefit as they existed in January 1977; or (ii) if the person received, or was eligible to receive, the pension before July 1, 1983, and the person was dependent on his or her spouse for at least one-half support at the time the spouse died, became disabled or became entitled to Social Security benefits. The amount of the public pension used for purposes of the offset against Social Security spouse's benefits is equal to two-thirds of the public pension. The Social Security benefit for the spouse of a disabled worker is also offset dollar for dollar by the amount of any Social Security benefit the spouse receives based on his or her own work. All benefits to spouses and children of disabled workers are subject to an earnings test unless those beneficiaries are full-benefit retirement age or older. Beginning with the year 2000, the retirement earnings test was eliminated beginning with the month in which the beneficiary reaches full-benefit retirement age (FRA). A person at and above FRA will not have Social Security benefits reduced because of earnings. In the calendar year in which a beneficiary reaches FRA, benefits are reduced $1 for every $3 of earnings above the limit allowed by law, $31,800 in 2005, but this reduction is applied only to months prior to attainment of FRA. For years before the year the beneficiary attains FRA, the reduction in benefits is $1 for every $2 of earnings over the annual exempt amount. Further, no benefit can be paid to an alien in the United States unless he or she is lawfully present in the United States. In addition, an alien cannot qualify for benefits if he or she never had a work-authorized Social Security Number (SSN) (effective for benefit applications based on SSNs issued after 2003).

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Individual/Family; Student/Trainee; Women; Disabled (e.g. Deaf, Blind, Physically Disabled); Physically Afflicted (e.g. TB, Arthritis, Heart Disease); Infant (0-5); Child (6-15); Youth (16-21); Senior Citizen (60+); Qualified disabled workers under full retirement age (FRA). Under the definition of disability in the Social Security Law, disability benefits are provided to a person who is unable to engage in any substantial gainful activity by reason of a medically determinable physical or mental impairment that has lasted or is expected to last at least 12 months, or to result in death. Disabled widow(er)s' benefits are covered under survivors insurance. Felony-related impairments and confinement-related impairments cannot be considered in determining whether an individual is under a disability if the individual has been convicted of a felony which was committed after October 19, 1980. Effective for claims finally adjudicated on or after March 29, 1996, (or for claims approved before then, with benefits payable beginning January 1, 1997) eligibility can no longer be based on drug addiction or alcoholism.

Credentials/Documentation:

If an eligible worker age 62 or over receives benefits before full-benefit retirement age (FRA)(age 66 for workers age 62 in 2005), the individual's retirement benefit will be permanently reduced. Also, certain family members can receive benefits including: (1) A wife or husband age 62 or over; (2) a spouse at any age, if a child who is under age 16 or is disabled is in his or her care and is entitled to benefits based on the worker's record; (3) unmarried children under age 18 (or under age 19 for students in elementary or secondary school); (4) unmarried adult offspring at any age if disabled before age 22; and (5) divorced wives or husbands age 62 or over who were married to the worker for at least 10 years. Beginning January 1985, spouses ages 62 or over who have been divorced for at least 2 years (and married to the worker for at least 10 years) may become entitled to benefits regardless of whether the former spouse who is at least age 62 and fully insured has applied for benefits. Effective January 1991, the 2-year waiting period for payment of divorced spouse's benefits without regard to the former spouse's earnings was waived if the former spouse was entitled to benefits prior to the divorce. All benefits, other than benefits to disabled beneficiaries, and beneficiaries FRA and older, are subject to an earnings test. Beginning with the year 2000, the retirement earnings test was eliminated beginning with the month in which the beneficiary reaches FRA. A person at and above FRA will not have Social Security benefits reduced because of earnings. In the calendar year in which a beneficiary reaches FRA, benefits are reduced $1 for every $3 of earnings above the limit allowed by law, $31,800 in 2005, but this reduction is applied only to months prior to attainment of FRA. For years before the year the beneficiary attains FRA, the reduction in benefits is $1 for every $2 of earnings over the annual exempt amount, $16,920 in 2017. For workers who are first eligible after 1985 for both (a) a pension based on non-covered employment; and (b) Social Security retirement (or disability) benefits, a different benefit formula applies which provides somewhat lower benefits. The Social Security benefit for a spouse of a retired worker is subject to a pension offset if the spouse receives a governmental pension based on his or her own work in non-covered employment. However, the offset does not apply if: (i) the person has received or became eligible to receive the pension before December 1, 1982, and met eligibility requirements for Social Security auxiliaries' benefits as they existed in January 1977; or (ii) if the person receives, or is eligible to receive, the pension before July 1, 1983, and the person was dependent on his or her spouse for at least one-half support at the time the spouse died, became disabled or became entitled to Social Security benefits. The amount of the public pension used for purposes of the offset against Social Security spouse's benefits is equal to two-thirds of the public pension. The benefit for the spouse of a retired worker is also offset dollar for dollar by the amount of any Social Security benefit the spouse receives based on his or her own work. Effective for those who have reached age 62 since August 1981, a retired worker or spouse can receive benefits only for months in which he or she has attained at least age 62 for the entire month. No benefit can be paid to an alien in the United States unless he or she is lawfully present in the United States. In addition, an alien cannot qualify for benefits if he or she never had a work-authorized SocialSecurity Number (SSN) effective for benefit applications based on SSNs issued after 2003).

96.004 Social Security Survivors Insurance

FEDERAL AGENCY:

SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

AUTHORIZATION:

Executive Order as amended, Title II, Social Security Act of 1935, Title II, 42 USC Code 401-433.

OBJECTIVES:

To replace part of the earnings lost to dependents because of the worker's death.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Direct Payments for Specified Use, Direct Payments with Unrestricted Use

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Monthly cash benefits are paid to eligible family members of deceased workers. There are no restrictions on the use of benefits, although the right to future benefits is not transferable or assignable. The Federal government gives the States funds, in advance or by way of reimbursement, for necessary costs in making disability determinations under 20 CFR part 404 subparts P and Q. Necessary costs are direct as well as indirect costs as defined in 41 CFR Part 1-15, Subpart 1-15.7 of the Federal Procurement Regulations System for costs incurred before April 1, 1984; and 48 CFR 31, Subpart 31.6 of the Federal Acquisition Regulations System and Federal Management Circular A-74-4 as amended or superseded for costs incurred after March 31, 1984.

Applicant Eligibility:

Individual/Family; Benefits are payable only if the deceased was insured for survivors insurance protection. Coverage credits under the social security systems of certain foreign countries with which the U.S. has reciprocal agreements may be taken into account to meet the requirements. Survivors eligible for monthly cash benefits are the following: widows or widowers age 60 or over; surviving divorced spouses age 60 or over (married to the deceased worker for at least 10 years); disabled widows, widowers or surviving divorced spouses ages 50- 59; widows, widowers, or surviving divorced spouses at any age who have in their care a child under age 16 or disabled and entitled to benefits on the deceased worker's Social Security record; unmarried children under age 18, under age 19 and a full time student in elementary or secondary school; or age 18 or older and under a disability which began before age 22; and dependent parents age 62 and over. All survivors benefits, other than for beneficiaries at full retirement age (FRA) or older, are subject to an earnings test. Beginning with the year 2000, the retirement earnings test was eliminated beginning with the month in which the beneficiary reaches FRA. A person at and above FRA will not have Social Security benefits reduced because of earnings. In the calendar year in which a beneficiary reaches FRA, benefits are reduced $1 for every $3 of earnings above the limit allowed by law, $44,880 in 2017, but this reduction is applied only to months prior to attainment of FRA. For years before the year the beneficiary attains FRA, the reduction in benefits is $1 for every $2 of earnings over the annual exempt amount, $16,920 in 2017. Except for benefits to children and dependent parents, all survivors benefits are subject to a pension offset if the person is also receiving a governmental pension based on his or her own work in non-covered employment. However, the offset does not apply: (1) If the person receives, or is eligible to receive, the pension before December 1, 1982, and can meet the requirements for the Social Security auxiliary's benefit as they existed in January 1977; or (2) if the person receives, or is eligible to receive, the pension before July 1, 1983, and the person was dependent on his or her spouse for at least one-half support at the time the spouse died, became disabled or became entitled to Social Security benefits; or (3) if the last 60 months of a persons government service before retirement was covered by both Social Security and the pension plan that provides the government pension. The amount of the public pension used for purposes of the offset against Social Security survivor's benefits is equal to two-thirds of the public pension. Benefits for widows/widowers and surviving divorced spouses are also offset dollar for dollar by any Social Security benefit the surviving spouse receives based on his or her own work. Under certain conditions, a lump-sum death payment of $255 is payable to the widow or children of the deceased worker. Further, no benefit can be paid to an alien in the United States unless he is lawfully present in the United States. Also, an alien cannot qualify for benefits if he or she never had a work-authorized Social Security Number (SSN) (effective for benefit applications based on SSNs issued after 2003).

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Student/Trainee; Women; Infant (0-5); Child (6-15); Youth (16-21); Senior Citizen (60+); Widows, widowers, and surviving divorced spouses age 60 or over are entitled as long as the worker met the insurance requirements. Widows, widowers, and surviving divorced spouses also qualify at any age if they have entitled children of the worker under age 16 or disabled children in their care; unmarried children: under age 18, under age 19 and a full-time student in elementary or secondary school or age 18 or older and under a disability which began before age 22; and dependent parents age 62 and over. To claim benefits as disabled widows, widowers, or surviving divorced spouses, individuals ages 50-59 must show that they have a disability that started no later than 7 years after the insured died or 7 years after certain other events. "Disability" currently has the same meaning for these entitlements as it does for workers who claim disability insurance (see 96.001). As in worker disability claims, there is also a 5-month waiting period after the disability began before benefits begin and entitlement to Medicare after 24 months of entitlement to benefits. Children of the worker claiming benefits because of disability are also subject to the definition of disability used for workers and must show that they have been disabled since before they reached age 22. There is no waiting period for these benefits.

96.006 Supplemental Security Income

Supplemental Security Income,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

AUTHORIZATION:

Social Security Act of 1935, Title XVI, as amended; 42 U.S.C. 1381-1383f., Title XVI, 42 USC Code 1381-1383f.

OBJECTIVES:

To ensure a minimum level of income to persons who have attained age 65 or are blind or disabled, and whose income and resources are below specified levels.

Generally, there are no restrictions on the use of benefits received by beneficiaries, although the right to future benefits is not transferable or assignable. The Federal government gives the States funds, in advance or by way of reimbursement, for necessary costs in making disability determinations under 20 CFR 404 subparts P and Q and part 416 subparts I and J. Necessary costs are direct as well as indirect costs as defined in 41 CFR 1-15, subpart 1-15.7 of the Federal Procurement Regulations System for costs incurred before April 1, 1984; and 48 CFR 31, Subpart 31.6 of the Federal Acquisition Regulations System and Federal Management Circular No. A-74-4 as amended or superseded for costs incurred after March 31, 1984.

Applicant Eligibility:

Individual/Family; To be found disabled for SSI purposes: an individual age 18 or older must be unable to perform any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of at least 12 months; an individual under age 18 must have a medically determinable physical or mental impairment or combination of impairments that causes marked and severe functional limitations, and that can be expected to cause death or that has lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of at least 12 months. An individual under age 18 who files a new application for benefits and is engaging in substantial gainful activity will not be considered disabled. To be found blind for SSI purposes, an individual of any age must be "statutorily blind." This means central visual acuity of 20/200 or less in the better eye with use of a correcting lens. The eligibility of an individual who has attained age 65 or who is blind or disabled is determined on the basis of an assessment of the individual's monthly income and resources, citizenship or alien status, U.S. residency, and certain other eligibility requirements. In determining a month's income, the first $20 of Social Security or other unearned income is not counted. An additional $65 of earned income ($85 if the person had no unearned income) received in a month plus one-half of the remainder above $65 (or $85) also is not counted. If, after these (and other) exclusions, an individual's countable income, effective January 2018, is less than $750 per month ($1,125 for a couple, both of whom are aged, blind or disabled) and countable resources are less than $2,000 ($3,000 for a couple), the individual may be eligible for payments. The values of household goods, personal effects, an automobile, life insurance, and property needed for self support are, if within limits set out in regulations, excluded in determining value of resources. Burial spaces for an individual and immediate family and burial funds, up to $1,500 each for an individual and spouse, are excluded from resources. The value of a home which serves as the principal place of residence is also excluded in resource valuation.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Individual/Family; Disabled (e.g. Deaf, Blind, Physically Disabled); Physically Afflicted (e.g. TB, Arthritis, Heart Disease); Senior Citizen (60+); Low Income; Individuals who have attained age 65 or are blind or disabled, who continue to meet the income and resources tests, citizenship/qualified alien status, U.S. residence, and certain other requirements. Eligibility may continue for beneficiaries who engage in substantial gainful activity despite disabling physical or mental impairments.

AUTHORIZATION:

The Fulbright-Hays Act of 1961, as amended, Public Law 87-256, 22 USC Code 2451.

OBJECTIVES:

As authorized by the Fulbright-Hays Act, the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs (ECA) seeks to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and the people of other countries by means of educational and cultural exchange programs, including the exchange of scholars, researchers, professionals, students, and educators. ECA programs foster engagement and encourage dialogue with citizens around the world. Educational and cultural engagement is premised on the knowledge that mutual understanding, the development of future leaders, and the benefits of education programs influence societies and affect official decision-making almost everywhere in the world today. ECA programs inform, engage, and influence participants across strategic sectors of society including young people, women, teachers, scholars, journalists, and other professionals increasing the number of foreign individuals who have first-hand experience with Americans and with the values of freedom, representative government, rule of law, economic choice, and individual dignity, while building international knowledge and capacity among Americans. The purpose of Undergraduate Programs is to provide targeted support for American students to pursue intensive language study abroad and for foreign students to gain a better understanding of the United States, while developing new generations of world leaders.

the provision of enrichment activities. The Global Undergraduate Exchange Program provides one semester scholarships to outstanding undergraduate students from underrepresented sectors in Central Asia, East Asia and the Pacific, Europe, Eurasia, the Near East, South Asia, Sub-Saharan Africa, and the Western Hemisphere. The program includes English language study, coursework, service learning opportunities, professional development workshops, and cultural enrichment activities. In FY 2018, Global Ugrad placed 252 students at over 70 institutions around the United States. The Global Undergraduate Exchange Program with Pakistan (Global UGRAD Pakistan) provides one semester scholarships to outstanding, undergraduate, emerging student leaders from across Pakistan who traditionally may not have access to the American educational system. The program is designed to foster youth leadership and community engagement, promote academic achievement and cross-cultural exchange to strengthen mutual understanding between Pakistan and the United States. Participants engage in their host and home communities through service learning and other activities to increase understanding between Americans and Pakistanis. Leadership development is incorporated into every component of the program (including cultural and professional enrichment workshops) to provide participants the knowledge, skills, and abilities to initiate positive change in their home communities. The program was launched in 2010 and has since supported over 1,500 young leaders from across Pakistan. In 2018, Global UGRAD Pakistan placed 219 students at 119 host schools in 41 states across the United States. The Study of the U.S. Institutes for Student Leaders are five- to six-week academic programs focusing on topics in U.S. studies for groups of foreign undergraduates. Hosted by universities, colleges, and NGOs throughout the United States, the Institutes include an intensive academic residency, an educational study tour, leadership development, community service activities, and opportunities for participants to engage with American peers. The Institutes aim to increase the undergraduates understanding of U.S. history, government, culture, society, and institutions with the overall goal of increasing mutual understanding between the people of the United States and the people of other countries. This model includes the Young Southeast Asian Leaders (YSEALI) Academic Fellowship, which aims to build the leadership capacity of youth in Asia, to strengthen ties between the United States and Asia, and to nurture an ASEAN identity. YSEALI Academic Fellows take part in five-week programs in the themes of Civic Engagement, Environmental Issues, and Social Entrepreneurship and Economic Development. The Mandela Washington Fellowship for Young African Leaders also follows the SUSI model but targets young professionals from throughout Sub-Saharan Africa. The Fellowship aims to empower young people through academic coursework, leadership training, and networking. Fellows take part in a six-week intensive academic and leadership program focused in one of three tracks: business and entrepreneurship, civic leadership, or public management followed by a three-day Summit. One hundred of the Fellows also take part in six-week professional development experiences at a U.S. organization. The Community College Initiative Program (CCIP) provides participants from underserved and underrepresented groups with a one-year non-degree academic program at a U.S. community college in the fields of agriculture; applied engineering; business management and administration; early childhood education; information technology; media; public safety; and tourism and hospitality management. Participants increase their employment-related skills and knowledge of English, increase their ability to contribute to the economic development of their countries, and promote mutual understanding. Please refer to the Grants.gov or the the U.S. Department of State's SAMS Domestic announcement for further information. The Critical Language Scholarship (CLS) Program provides fully-funded, group-based intensive language instruction and structured cultural enrichment experiences to U.S. undergraduate and graduate students through overseas summer institutes. The CLS program is designed to increase the number of Americans studying and mastering foreign languages that are critical to U.S. national security and economic competitiveness. CLS Program languages include Arabic, Azerbaijani, Bangla, Chinese, Hindi, Indonesian, Japanese, Korean, Persian, Punjabi, Russian, Swahili, Turkish, and Urdu, with Portuguese being added for summer 2019. The institutes are held in countries where the target languages are spoken. The CLS Program includes twenty hours of formal language instruction per week for eight to ten weeks (equivalent to one full year of language study). Students also participate in activities that are specifically designed and organized to increase language acquisition and cultural knowledge. CLS students engage with the local host community by living with host families, meeting weekly with local language partners and engaging in volunteer activities while using the host language. The CLS program plays a critical role in preparing U.S. students for the 21st century's globalized workforce and increasing American competitiveness. The Capacity Building Program for U.S. Undergraduate Study Abroad provides awards to U.S. colleges and universities to expand and diversify their study abroad programs and broaden study abroad opportunities for students who have been traditionally underrepresented in study abroad and/or develop programs of study for students to destinations, and/or in disciplines, that have been traditionally underrepresented in study abroad. The goal is to increase the number of students who have the knowledge and skills they need to compete in the global economy and to help address global challenges as well as to develop sustainable study abroad programs that can benefit future cohorts of students. Although this program did not offer a public small grant competition for accredited U.S. higher education institution in FY 2017, more small grants should be available to U.S. colleges and universities throughout FY 2018.

19.026 Global Peace Operations Initiative

GPOI,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

STATE, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Foreign Assistance Act, 1961, Section 632, Public Law 112-10

OBJECTIVES:

GPOI was initially envisioned as a five-year program (FY 2005-2009) to help address major gaps in international capacity to conduct peace support operations (PSOs), with a focus on Africa. Such gaps included a shortage of capable peacekeepers and formed police units (FPUs), limited national capabilities to train and sustain peacekeeping proficiencies, and a lack of international coordination mechanisms to assist the deployment of troop and police contingents to PSOs. Despite considerable progress in these areas since FY 2005, significant capacity shortfalls continue to impact the effectiveness of United Nations (UN) and regional PSOs. Addressing these gaps will require a long-term commitment to capacity building by the United States and other contributor countries. Toward this end, a National Security Council Deputies Committee approved a five-year renewal of GPOIs mandate (FY 2010-2014) in October 2008. Through policy statements and budgetary allocations, the current Administration subsequently affirmed support for the continuation of PSO capacity building activities through GPOI. Reflective of global PSO requirements at the time of GPOIs establishment, the programs first five years focused on significantly increasing the number of peacekeepers available for deployment. Accordingly, the primary objective of Phase I was to train and, as appropriate, equip at least 75,000 peacekeepers by 2010. GPOI met and, in fact, surpassed this target, training 86,969 peacekeepers as of 30 September 2009. Through GPOI, the United States further provides deployment support, obligating $ 76.6 million to date to facilitate the equipping, transportation, and sustainment of troops deploying to various UN and regional missions. Overall, GPOI train, equip, and deployment support activities have facilitated the deployment of 122,202 personnel from 31 countries to 19 PSOs around the world. GPOI funds a wide range of regional capacity building initiatives, to include technical assistance, staff training, equipment provisions, and building refurbishments for two regional headquarters (the African Union (AU) and the Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS)) and 32 national and regional PSO training centers. Additionally, GPOI provides financial, technical, and staffing support to the Center of Excellence for Stability Police Units (COESPU), an Italian-led center to facilitate the training of stability/formed police unit (FPU) trainers. During Phase II (FY 2010-2014), GPOI will seek to continue to ensure sufficient numbers of capable peacekeepers are available for PSOs, with the target of facilitating training for an additional 242,500 troops. However, program emphasis has shifted from the direct training of peacekeepers by U.S. personnel to building sustainable, indigenous PSO training capabilities in partner countries/ organizations. GPOI-funded activities emphasize the establishment and strengthening of partner countries training infrastructures, with a focus on both military troops and FPUs, where appropriate. Accordingly, at least two-thirds (or approximately 162,500) of the peacekeepers trained will be trained indigenously by GPOI-trained instructors. GPOI will further continue to serve as a mechanism for supporting units deploying to UN and regional peacekeeping missions, as well as to build the capacity of regional organizations to train for, plan, deploy, manage, sustain, and integrate lessons learned from PSOs.

DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Foreign Assistance Act, State Department Basic Authorities Act

OBJECTIVES:

The Bureau of Conflict and Stabilization Operations (CSO) is part of the Under Secretariat for Civilian Security, Democracy, and Human Rights (J) within the Department of State (DOS). CSO's mission is to strengthen U.S. national security by breaking cycles of violent conflict and mitigating crisis in priority countries. Guided by local dynamics, CSO acts quickly to devise sustainable solutions to address the full spectrum of conflict, from prevention to crisis response to stabilization. Building more effective partnerships with capable implementing organizations with experience in conflict prevention and stabilization activities is integral to the CSO mission and as such, CSO seeks to identify qualified partners, facilitators and implementers from among private and nonprofit entities. Funding may be made available for flexible, rapid, targeted, and high-impact awards to organizations to prevent, mitigate and/or respond to conflict situations and stabilize countries around the world.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

The project focused on boosting the involvement of women in conflict prevention and non-violence advocacy at the national and sub-national levels and developing relationships between women and local election authorities to build and strengthen early warning and response networks in the lead up to and during the elections. Honduras: CSO is working to improve security in Honduras by reforming the security sector and visibly reducing violence. CSO works with local partners to increase public confidence in government institutions as well as to decrease impunity by supporting civil society and government institutions to reform the security sector. EUR/ACE Humanitarian Assistance Program,

OBJECTIVES:

Provide vital humanitarian assistance to vulnerable populations in countries of the former Soviet Union.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants, Salaries and Expenses

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Provide vital humanitarian assistance to vulnerable populations in countries of the former Soviet Union.

Applicant Eligibility:

Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Since 1992, the EUR/ACE HA program has been assisting those in need with food, clothing and medicine. Small Reconstruction Projects fund structural repairs such as bathrooms and kitchens of recipient institutions in a cost-effective way. Materials and engineering costs are covered by the project, unskilled labor is often provided by local residents, and contributions (such as utility costs) are sometimes made by NGOs and local governments. The long-term result of HA is threefold: the suffering of the vulnerable is relieved, partnerships are formed between the USG and the people of the recipient country, and, from this example, their governments are better able to recognize and react to the needs of their citizens. Since its inception in 1992, the EUR/ACE program has provided over $4 billion worth of donated assistance to the people of the former Soviet Union. In 2012, the EUR/ACE program provided $137.57 million in assistance using only $10.77 million in program funds; that is, $12.77 of assistance delivered for each dollar of program funding. Similar results are expected in FY13, with diminished returns in FY14, the final year of the program. The EUR/ACE Humanitarian program is scheduled to phase out effective 30 September 2014.

ECA programs inform, engage, and influence participants across strategic sectors of society including young people, women, teachers, scholars, journalists, and other professionals increasing the number of foreign individuals who have first-

Funding to those organizations supports activities such as publicity and recruitment, screening of applications, communication with participants, payment of participant costs, and the provision of enrichment activities. The Fulbright English Teaching Assistant (ETA) Program, an element of the Fulbright U.S. Student Program, places recent college graduates and young professionals as English teaching assistants in K-12 schools, universities, and language-learning institutions overseas. In the 2017-2018 academic year, there were over 1,200 participants in the ETA program. The Fulbright Foreign Language Teaching Assistant (FLTA) Program brings early career educators from all over the world to the U.S. to refine their teaching skills, increase their English language proficiency and extend their knowledge of the cultures and customs of the United States while engaging in non-degree studies at accredited post-secondary U.S. educational institutions. FLTAs teach or assist in the instruction of language courses, supervise language labs, and lead language table discussions and may also act as resource persons and cultural representatives, as they represent their language and culture in the United States. In the 2017-2018 academic year, there were 401 participants in the FLTA program. Fulbright Public Policy Fellows serve in professional placements as special assistants in foreign government ministries in areas of joint interest to the U.S. government and host country government to gain hands-on public sector experience and contribute to public policy initiatives in participating foreign countries while simultaneously carrying out an academic research project. The Fulbright-National Geographic Digital Storytelling Fellowship is a collaboration with the National Geographic Society that provides Fellows with an opportunity to receive National Geographic mentorship and share stories on a dedicated program blog hosted by National Geographic while they complete 9 month Fulbright grants in one, two, or three countries focused on theme of global importance agreed upon by ECA and National Geographic. There are five National Geographic Fellows each year. Fellows have been featured in a variety of publications from the National Geographic platforms such as the online magazine and blog as well as Fulbright and other social media. During the Institutes, scholars engage in rigorous academic coursework, seminar, and panel discussions; interact and establish networks with American scholars; meet with experts in the respective disciplines, visit civic institutions, and pursue related research interests. The Fulbright Specialist Program (FSP) provides an on-demand, rapid response exchange resource which sends highly qualified U.S. academics and professionals to host institutions abroad for short term visits of 2-6 weeks with a goal of sharing expertise and establishing partnerships which benefit institutions and communities both in the United States and overseas. Specialists carry out projects at host institutions that align with Department of State goals and the priorities of foreign host institutions. With FY 2017 funds, the Fulbright Specialists Program will send more than 425 Specialists abroad with projects to be completed by FY 2019. The Fulbright Scholar-in-Residence Program enables U.S. colleges and universities to host academicians from abroad to lecture on a wide range of subject fields for a semester or academic year as part of an internationalization effort. 19.402 Professional and Cultural Exchange Programs - International Visitor Leadership Program

International Visitor Leadership Program,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF EDUCATIONAL AND CULTURAL AFFAIRS, STATE,
DEPARTMENT OF
AUTHORIZATION:

The Fulbright-Hays Act of 1961, as amended., Public Law 87-256, 22 USC Code 2451.

OBJECTIVES:

As authorized by the Fulbright-Hays Act, the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs (ECA) seeks to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and the people of other countries by means of educational and cultural exchange programs, including the exchange of scholars, researchers, professionals, students, and educators. ECA programs foster engagement and encourage dialogue with citizens around the world. Educational and cultural engagement is premised on the knowledge that mutual understanding, the development of future leaders, and the benefits of education programs influence societies and affect official decision-making almost everywhere in the world today. ECA programs inform, engage, and influence participants across strategic sectors of society including young people, women, teachers, scholars, journalists, and other professionals increasing the number of foreign individuals who have firsthand experience with Americans and with the values of freedom, representative government, rule of law, economic choice, and individual dignity, while building international knowledge and capacity among Americans. The International Visitor Leadership Program (IVLP) facilitates short-term visits to the United States for current and emerging leaders from around the world to exchange best practices with American counterparts in a broad range of professional fields directly tied to U.S. foreign policy priorities. Interagency staff at U.S. embassies worldwide nominate and select participants in government, politics, business, education, the media, the arts and other fields for the program; there is no application process. Over 500 alumni of the IVLP went on to become Chiefs of State or Heads of Government in their countries. IVLP projects provide opportunities for participants to explore issues in the U.S. context, meet with their American professional counterparts, experience U.S. society, and understand American values. Participants meet with representatives of the private sector and civil society, as well as with government officials at all levels. The IVLP partners with a network of non-government, non-profit organizations, including about 90 community-based organizations and 40,000 volunteers across the country. These citizen diplomats host the International Visitors and share the American way of life by bringing them into their places of work, schools, communities, and homes. Americans, in turn, benefit from the opportunity for first-hand, in-person exchange with current and emerging leaders from around the world. The IVLP broadens international understanding and supports the local economy in both rural and urban communities throughout the United States. Virtually the entire IVLP budget is spent within the United States in support of program partners and local businesses.

Fiscal Year 2017: The Trust for University Innovation in Vietnam (TUIV) receives financial support from ECA, including funds via the U.S. Department of Treasury's Vietnam Debt Repayment Fund, towards the development of Fulbright University Vietnam (FUV), the first independent, not-for-profit university in Vietnam. USAID also is providing funding. FUV will embody American higher education values including academic freedom, autonomy, meritocracy, and transparency. Based in Ho Chi Minh City, it will admit its first class of students in academic year 2017-18 (teaching applied economics and management to Vietnamese mid-career managers and policymakers through a two-year Masters in Public Policy degree program) and its first undergraduates for 2018-19. Ground is expected to be broken in the fall of 2018, with the first phase of the construction to be completed by 2020. The Vietnamese government has been very supportive, including donating the land for the campus. FUV builds on the investments made under the direction of the U.S. Congress over 20 years in the Fulbright Economic Teaching Program (FETP), a cornerstone of U.S.-Vietnamese bilateral cooperation in higher education for which ECA provided funding. Fiscal Year 2018: Fulbright University Vietnam began recruitment of its first cohort of undergraduate students in spring 2018 and 56 students were selected for a special design-year, which began with intensive English in mid-July. In June 2018, FUV moved to a temporary campus, which includes dormitories for the undergraduates, until FUV's permanent campus is completed in 2020. The official undergraduate program will open in September 2018. In addition, a new cohort of approximately 50 graduate students will join FUV's inaugural 2017-2018 60 Masters of Public Policy students for the 2018-2019 academic year. Fiscal Year 2019: No Current Data Available.

BUREAU OF EDUCATIONAL AND CULTURAL AFFAIRS, STATE,
DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

The Fulbright-Hays Act of 1961, as amended., Title 87, Part 256

OBJECTIVES:

As authorized by the Fulbright-Hays Act, the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs (ECA) seeks to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and the people of other countries by means of educational and cultural exchange programs, including the exchange of scholars, researchers, professionals, students, and educators. ECA programs foster engagement and encourage dialogue with citizens around the world. Educational and cultural engagement is premised on the knowledge that mutual understanding, the development of future leaders, and the benefits of education programs influence societies and affect official decision-making almost everywhere in the world today. ECA programs inform, engage, and influence participants across strategic sectors of society including young people, women, teachers, scholars, journalists, and other professionals increasing the number of foreign individuals who have first-hand experience with Americans and with the values of freedom, representative government, rule of law, economic choice, and individual dignity, while building international knowledge and capacity among Americans. The purpose of International Exchange Alumni Programs is to advance U.S. foreign policy by building and maintaining relationships with current and future leaders, including Americans, who have participated in international exchanges. Alumni engagement is an integral component of the U.S. Department of State's public diplomacy that generates maximum return on the U.S. government's investment in exchange programs. Alumni programs aim to unite alumni communities around the globe and foster post-exchange opportunities through follow-on activities, virtual engagement, funding opportunities and resources, and regional programs.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements, Project Grants, Project Grants (Cooperative Agreements)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

With approximately 1,000,000 alumni worldwide, including over 350,000 Americans, ECA is committed to providing resources to sustain engagement with and harness the energy, enthusiasm, and expertise of these current and emerging leaders. Working closely with Department of State regional bureaus and U.S. embassies worldwide, ECA supports alumni programs that are strategic, responsive to U.S. embassy priorities, and designed to reinforce U.S. foreign policy objectives. To best address those objectives, ECA focuses alumni programs on policy priority topics relating to civic engagement, social inclusion, women's empowerment, English language learning, sustainable energy systems, entrepreneurship, conflict resolution, and good governance. In addition to providing expertise, training, and support for on-the-ground alumni activities led by U.S. embassies and consulates around the world, ECA maintains a robust, targeted virtual engagement system. One of the key ways the office currently unites and engages the alumni community virtually is through the International Exchange Alumni website (alumni.state.gov), an exclusive, password-protected on-line global community, which serves as the U.S. Department of State's official website for U.S. government-sponsored exchange alumni. The site offers alumni a place to network and connect with other alumni, share news, and access resources such as grants and research databases. Funding provided to a non-profit organization supports regional or sub-regional enrichment seminars for exchange alumni, which focus on thematic topics that support U.S. foreign policy priorities and foster a sense of shared identity, networking, and dialogue among participating alumni.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

The Bureau's main objective is to help ensure that refugees and victims of conflict have access to basic life-sustaining resources in ways that meet internationally accepted standards of care in shelter, food supply, nutrition, water supply, sanitation, and public health. NGO proposals should clearly use SPHERE standards as the basis for design, implementation, and evaluation, including proposed objectives and indicators. Underlying PRM's support for humanitarian assistance is a commitment to protection, targeted support to women, vulnerable individuals, coordination with relevant UN agencies and other NGOs, sustainability of programming, security, and capacity building. NGOs in search of Bureau funding would do well to address these specific areas in any proposals sent for funding.

19.515 Contributions to International Organizations for Overseas Assistance

BUREAU OF POPULATION, REFUGEES AND MIGRATION, STATE,

Migration and Refugee Assistance Act of 1962, as amended, Public Law 87-510, 22 USC Code 2601.

OBJECTIVES:

Provision of voluntary and assessed contributions to Public International Organizations to carry out humanitarian assistance activities overseas benefiting refugees, victims of conflict, and other persons of concern.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Direct Payments for Specified Use, Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Voluntary and assessed contributions provide funds to key international organizations to address pressing humanitarian needs overseas and to resettle refugees in the United States. These funds support programs that sustain life; provide protection and assistance to the most vulnerable, particularly women and children and the elderly; assist refugees with voluntary repatriation, local integration, or permanent resettlement in a third country; and foster the humane and effective management of international migration policies. These contributions meet the international organization's objectives as approved by the Bureau. Funding documents approved by the Bureau authorize funds based on the organization's budget submission, funding request or appeal document.

Applicant Eligibility:

Other public institution/organization; Quasi-public nonprofit institution/organization; Voluntary and assessed contributions to Public International Organizations to provide assistance to refugees and victims of conflict overseas.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program.

Award Procedure:

As authorized, the Bureau provides funds multilaterally as voluntary and assessed contributions to international organizations (IOs). To ensure that the international system is effectively and efficiently addressing the humanitarian needs of refugees, internally displaced persons (IDPs), victims of conflict, stateless persons, and vulnerable migrants, the Bureau ensures that the U.S. Government (USG) works closely with other donor governments to achieve a common understanding of humanitarian requirements and what constitutes satisfactory performance in responding to them by the international humanitarian system. Through its active participation in international organizations' governing boards, the USG promotes efforts to strengthen the UN system and increase the effectiveness of multilateral humanitarian action. The Bureau makes USG contributions to major IO partners including the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, the International Committee of the Red Cross, the International Organization for Migration, the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA), and other international organizations. To demonstrate continued U.S. leadership and commitment to these institutions, the U.S. contributions aim to constitute a fair share of the IOs funding requests and appeals with the expectation that other donors -- in the spirit of responsibility sharing -- will support the remaining funding request. Each contribution funding decision is based on Bureau budget and policy prioritization considerations. Each contribution action contains award conditions that are signed and countersigned by authorized representatives of the Bureau and the recipient organization.

Contribution awards require that financial records regarding the contribution be maintained in accordance with the Recipients established accounting policies and procedures. Monitoring programs funded through contributions to international organizations remains a Bureau priority to ensure that funds meet core objectives of providing protection and assistance to populations of concern. The Bureau pursues its monitoring of its primary IO partners, as applicable, by negotiating frameworks for cooperation between the USG and the IO incorporating rigorous, mutually-agreed strategic goals, indicators, and performance targets for the year. With these organizations, the Bureau plays an important role in shaping and supporting strategic planning and performance management. The Bureau monitors its programs closely using a range of performance measures to gauge humanitarian impact, assess progress toward strategic priorities, and ensure accountability to beneficiaries and American taxpayers. IO programs are monitored by routine visits of agency staff to program sites and to IO headquarters and regional/country offices.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

The Bureau's main objective is to help ensure that refugees and victims of conflict have access to basic life-sustaining resources in ways that meet internationally accepted standards of care in shelter, food supply, nutrition, water supply, sanitation, and public health. NGO proposals should clearly use SPHERE standards as the basis for design, implementation, and evaluation, including proposed objectives and indicators. Underlying PRM's support for humanitarian assistance is a commitment to protection, targeted support to women, vulnerable individuals, coordination with relevant UN agencies and other NGOs, sustainability of programming, security, and capacity building. NGOs in search of Bureau funding would do well to address these specific areas in any proposals sent for funding.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Through humanitarian assistance, the Bureau aims to help ensure that refugees and victims of conflict have access to basic life-sustaining services that meet internationally-accepted standards of care in shelter, food supply, nutrition, water, sanitation, and health. NGO proposals should clearly use Sphere standards as the basis for design, implementation, and evaluation, including proposed objectives and indicators. At the core of PRM's humanitarian assistance is a commitment to protection, including support to women, stateless persons, and other vulnerable individuals, coordination with relevant UN agencies and other NGOs, sustainability of programming, security, and capacity building. NGOs in search of Bureau funding would do well to address these specific areas in any proposals sent for funding.

TRANSPORTATION, DEPARTMENT OF

20.106 Airport Improvement Program

AIP,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

FEDERAL AVIATION ADMINISTRATION, TRANSPORTATION,
DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Airport Improvement Act, Subtitle VII of Title 49 United States Code, PART B-Airport Development and Noise, Public Law 103-272, Public Law 115-141

OBJECTIVES:

To assist sponsors, owners, or operators of public-use airports in the development of a nationwide system of airports adequate to meet the needs of civil aeronautics. The purpose of the law includes the investment in transportation, environmental protection, and airport infrastructure that will support long-term economic benefits.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Advisory Services and Counseling, Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Grants can be made for integrated airport system planning in a specific area and airport master planning, construction, or rehabilitation at a public-use airport or portion thereof. Authorizing legislation refers to an airport as any area of land or water used or intended to be used for the landing or taking off of aircraft and includes, within the five categories of airports listed below, special types of facilities such as seaplane bases and heliports. The statute further defines airports by categories which include: commercial service, primary, cargo service, reliever, and general aviation airports. They are defined as follows: commercial service airports are publicly owned airports that have at least 2,500 passenger boardings each year and receive scheduled passenger service. Passenger boardings refer to revenue passenger boardings on an aircraft in service in air commerce. The definition also includes passengers who continue on an aircraft in international flight that stops at an airport in any of the 50 states for a non-traffic purpose. Passenger boardings at airports that receive scheduled passenger service are also referred to as enplanements. Non-primary commercial service airports are commercial service airports that have at least 2,500 and no more than 10,000 passenger boardings each year. Primary airports are commercial service airports that have more than 10,000 passenger boardings each year. These airports are further categorized as hub airports, based on the level of passenger boardings. Hub categories for primary airports are defined as a percentage of total passenger boardings in the most current calendar year ending before the start of the current fiscal year. The definition and formula used for designating primary airports by hub type and percentage of annual passenger boardings are: Large 1 percent or more; Medium - at least 0.25 percent, but less than 1 percent; Small - at least 0.05 percent, but less than 0.25 percent; and Non hub - more than 10,000 boardings, but less than 0.05 percent. Cargo service airports are airports that, in addition to any other air transportation services that may be available, are served by aircraft providing air transportation of only cargo with a total annual landed weight of more than 100 million pounds. Reliever airports are airports designated by the FAA to relieve congestion at commercial service airports and to provide more general aviation access to the overall community. The remaining airports, are referred to as general aviation, or GA, airports and are defined as public airports that are not commercial service airports. General aviation airports comprise the largest single group of airports in the U.S. airport system. Eligible work at airports consists of: (1) airport master plans; (2) airport noise compatibility plans; (3) land acquisition; (4) site preparation; (5) construction, alteration, and rehabilitation of runways, taxiways, aprons, and certain roads within airport boundaries; (6) construction and installation of airfield lighting, navigational aids, and certain related offsite work; (7) safety equipment required for certification of airport facility; (8) security equipment required of the sponsor by the Secretary of Transportation by rule or regulation for the safety and security of persons and property on the airport; (9) snow-removal equipment; (10) terminal development; (11) aviation-related weather reporting equipment; (12) equipment to measure runway surface friction; (13) firefighting burn area training structures and land for that purpose, on or off airport; (14) agency-approved noise compatibility projects; (15) relocation of air traffic control towers and navigational aids (including radar) if they impede other projects funded under AIP; (16) land, paving, drainage, aircraft deicing equipment and structures for centralized deicing areas; and (17) projects to comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, Clean Air Act, and Clean Water Act. Under limited criteria, construction of aircraft hangars and automobile parking lots are eligible. Grants for hangars and parking facilities are available on a limited basis based on funding. Grants may not be made for buildings not related to the safety of persons on the airport, decorative landscaping or artwork, or routine maintenance and repair. Technical advisory services are also provided for on a project need basis.

Applicant Eligibility:

Other public institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; U.S. Territories and possessions; Quasi-public nonprofit institution/organization; State; States, counties, municipalities, U.S. Territories and possessions, and other public agencies including an Indian tribe or pueblo, the Republics of the Marshall Islands and Palau, and the Federated States of Micronesia are eligible for airport development grants if the airport on which the development is required is listed in the National Plan of Integrated Airport Systems (NPIAS). Certain local government organizations may be eligible for grants to implement noise planning and compatibility projects. Private owners of public-use reliever airports or airports having at least 2,500 passengers boarding annually and receiving scheduled passenger aircraft service may also be eligible.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

U.S. Territories; Private nonprofit institution/organization; Quasi-public nonprofit organization; State; Local; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Other public institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; States, counties, municipalities, U.S. Territories and possessions, and other public agencies including an Indian tribe or pueblo, the Republics of the Marshall Islands and Palau, the Federated States of Micronesia, and private owners of reliever airports or airports having at least 2,500 passenger boarding annually and receiving scheduled passenger aircraft service.

Credentials/Documentation:

Sponsors must submit information establishing financial capability and legal authority to accomplish the project and to operate the airport. This program is excluded from coverage under 2 CFR 200, Subpart E - Cost Principles.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. An environmental impact assessment is required for this program. Alternative environmental reporting and documentation may be acceptable based upon the project type.

Application Procedures:

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Pre-application for Federal Assistance, SF 424, Part I (facesheet) filed with the appropriate FAA field office, reviewed by the respective Regional Office and/or Washington program office for approval. This program has MOE requirements, see funding agency for further details. Additional Information: .

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

Projects are expected to be completed as expeditiously as possible, but performance periods may vary. In many cases, the performance period is five years from grant award. Most airports complete projects within one to two years of grant award. Method of awarding/releasing assistance: other

Reports:

During the project, the sponsor monitors performance to ensure that timely schedules are maintained. Periodic reports, as required, are forwarded to FAA. SF-270 or 271, as appropriate based on project type. The recipient periodically submits form 5370-1, the Construction Progress and Inspection Report. For non-construction projects, the recipient submits a quarterly project performance report. These reports are different than the financial reports, which are required separately for every grant. SF-425 Project performance monitoring is conducted through site visits and reports. Reports must be filed quarterly with the FAA District or Regional Office and as frequently as determined by the FAA based on project type.

20.109 Air Transportation Centers of Excellence

FAA Centers of Excellence,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

FEDERAL AVIATION ADMINISTRATION, TRANSPORTATION,
DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Federal Aviation Administration Research, Engineering and Development
Authorization Act of 1990, Public Law 101-508, 49 USC Code C.

OBJECTIVES:

Conduct long term research in critical and specific areas of aviation related technology. Responsibilities of Centers may include, but are not limited to: the conduct of research concerning catastrophic failure of aircraft; airspace and airport planning and design; airport capacity enhancement techniques; human performance in the air transportation environment; aviation safety and security; the supply of trained air transportation personnel including pilots and mechanics; and other aviation issues pertinent to developing and maintaining a safe and efficient air transportation system, and the interpretation, publication, and dissemination of the results of such research.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants, Provision of Specialized Services, Salaries and Expenses, Use of Property, Facilities, and Equipment

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Centers of Excellence are established for long term mission-critical research in specific technology areas. Funding may be used for the establishment and operation of the Centers of Excellence and the related training, education and research projects. The FAA determines a need for a Center of Excellence in a specific area of technology and publishes in Grants.gov a Notice of Intent to Establish a COE and a Notice of Availability of a Draft Solicitation. In response to the Final Solicitation, each applicant submits a proposal with a description of their institutional capabilities, available faculty, facilities and equipment, and additional information as required in the Solicitation. Researchers at each COE are expected to maintain a close working relationship with the FAA COE Program Office and relevant FAA program offices and others having responsibility in areas related to their research projects. Centers conduct semi-annual reviews, and a major symposium at the conclusion of each cooperative agreement and research phase. This activity satisfies Congressional requirements to disseminate research results to a broad audience. CONGRESSIONAL RESTRICTIONS: (1) Matching Funds - The Federal share of the grant awarded shall be 50 percent of the cost to establish and operate and conduct related research within the Center of Excellence and related research activities. (2) Maintenance of Effort - Each recipient will maintain its aggregate expenditures from all other sources for establishing and operating the Center and related research activities at or above the average level of such expenditures in its 2 fiscal years preceding November 5, 1990. (3) Locations of centers and distribution of funds shall be geographically equitable. (4) Contract tasks may be awarded following the competitive process and may include negotiable cost share. (5) Funds are awarded to universities, industry and other affiliates must align with academic institutions who may then sub-contract to others as appropriate.

Applicant Eligibility:

Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); FAA COE applicants are limited to colleges and universities with the financial resources to meet statutory requirements for matching Federal funds and maintenance of effort. Academic institutions may partner with industry affiliates, other public and private entities, government laboratories and other interested parties. Applicants must satisfy the Congressionally mandated selection criteria as stated in an open Final Solicitation.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Private nonprofit institution/organization; Education (13+); Recipients are limited to colleges and universities with the financial resources to meet statutory requirements for matching Federal grants and maintenance of effort. In conducting research, a Center of Excellence may contract with nonprofit research organizations and other appropriate persons.

Credentials/Documentation:

Required documentation is outlined in each solicitation package. After the Draft Solicitation is published, copies of the Solicitation are available prior to a Public Meeting and are provided by the FAA Centers of Excellence Program Office, FAA Technical Center, Atlantic City International Airport, NJ 08405. To establish a Center of Excellence, the FAA COE Program Office conducts a competitive process to include a: public announcement, publication of a Draft and a Final Solicitation, period of public comment, management/fiscal review, and a technical evaluation. Public Law 101-508 established the following equally weighted selection criteria: (1) The extent to which the needs of the State in which the applicant is located are representative of the needs of the region for improved air transportation services and facilities. (2) The demonstrated research and extension resources available to the applicant for carrying out this program. (3) The capability of the applicant to provide leadership in making national and regional contributions to the solution of both long- range and immediate air transportation problems. (4) The extent to which the applicant has an established air transportation program. (5) The demonstrated ability of the applicant to disseminate results of air transportation research and educational programs through a State-wide or region-wide continuing education program. Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. FAA holds a public information meeting prior to submission of proposals. During the period of public comment and thereafter, questions may be submitted to the FAA Centers of Excellence Program Office, ANG-A12, FAA Technical Center, Atlantic City International Airport, NJ 08405.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Colleges and universities may apply after the FAA has published a Notice of Availability of Solicitation for a Center of Excellence in a specific research area on the Grants.gov website. Solicitation and application packages are available from the FAA Centers of Excellence Program Office, FAA Technical Center, Atlantic City International Airport, NJ 08405.

Award Procedure:

The FAA Administrator is the selecting official for each Air Transportation Center of Excellence. The FAA Centers of Excellence Program Director issues solicitations, receives all proposals, convenes evaluation teams to evaluate eligible institutions for Centers of Excellence awards. Applicants should be prepared to host an onsite inspection of existing research facilities when being considered for a Center of Excellence designation. Grant award authority has been delegated by the FAA Senior Procurement Executive to the FAA COE Grants Officer and Program Director, ANG-E, located at the William J. Hughes Technical Center, Atlantic City International Airport, NJ 08405. Awards are made to COE members throughout the term of the Center. No further announcements are issued.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Appeals:

Not Applicable. Formal protests are not an option; however, those submitting a proposal may request a debriefing.

Renewals:

Not Applicable. Grants: Multi-year grants and cooperative agreements are available; extensions are possible. No-cost extensions are available upon request. Centers of Excellence designation: Centers are evaluated during the last year of each research Phase. Cooperative agreements are renewed upon successful completion of each previous Phase throughout the 10-year term.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching Requirements: Percent: 50%. Requirement: Matching requirements are mandatory. This program has no statutory formula. Matching Funds Requirements - The Federal share shall be 50 percent of the costs of establishing and operating the Center of Excellence and related research activities. Maintenance of Effort - Each recipient will maintain its aggregate expenditures from all other sources for establishing and operating the Center and related research activities at or above the average level of such expenditures in its 2 fiscal years preceding November 1990. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

The FAA intends to support a Center of Excellence in two (2) five-year increments over a period of 10 years. Each Center undergoes a reassessment within the final year of each cooperative agreement Phase. Research is reviewed semi-annually.

Budgets and research projects are defined, evaluated and negotiated yearly. As a consequence of changing needs, or diminished requirements, the agency reserves the right not to renew support for a Center of Excellence at any time. Funds from program offices and additional appropriations may increase at any time providing the institution can demonstrate matching contributions are available. Method of awarding/releasing assistance: other

Reports:

Technical reports are provided to the sponsoring organization. COE Program status and fiscal reports are required on a quarterly basis. Technical and Financial reporting requirements are specified in 2 CFR 200, Subpart D Post- Federal Award Requirements. Semi-annual matching reports are required as well as an annual review of the research completed and in progress at each Center of Excellence. The annual technical review focuses on the relevance, merit and direction of research efforts in the designated area, and negotiation of projects and budget for the next year. A major technical conference is required by the end of each cooperative agreement period as part of close-out activities and serves to highlight research results and discuss plans for the next five-year phase. A major technical symposium is designed to satisfy legislative requirements to highlight COE outcomes and disseminate information and is conducted prior to the final 10-year period of performance. Technical progress reports are required on a quarterly basis throughout the period of performance. These include the following: * Description of project. * Investigation Team: the team that will perform the research, including the Principal Investigator and all academic, government, and industry partners * Objective of the research * General description of approach to research * Expected benefits * Funding 1. Project funding, identifying proposed FAA contributions, proposed contributions from other agencies or organizations, and COE matching funds 2. Project in-kind contributions, identifying contributions of cash versus in-kind contributions 3. Project spending profile, outlining expenditures anticipated over time. Universities may use their most current approved indirect cost rate at the time of submission. * Schedule: including milestones * The Universities will utilize the standardized tracking and reporting system, the FAA COE e-grants system, to the greatest extent possible to satisfy these requirements. A progress report is also provided during the annual technical review which focuses on the relevance, merit and direction of research efforts in the designated area, and discussion regarding future projects and budgets for the next year. The required final symposium is part of the COE close-out activities and serves to highlight research results over the entire period of performance. The symposium is also designed to satisfy legislative requirements to disseminate information. The standard form is submitted and the process is followed as described in the Financial Reporting Requirements section, 2 CFR 200, Subpart D Post- Federal Award Requirements. A technical monitor is assigned by the sponsoring organization to oversee each task, to monitor performance, receive technical reports, and approve invoices. A major meeting to present research results for a broad audience of peers is conducted during the fifth year; additionally, a major symposium is required by the end of the 10-year period as part of close-out activities and serves to highlight research results. The symposium is designed to satisfy legislative requirements to disseminate information.

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503 Single Audit Act assigns responsibility to either the Department of Health and Human Services or the Department of Defense for most institutions. The FAA calls for an audit of each Center every five years as a part of close-out activities, and reserves the right to conduct individual audits annually, and as needed, within the constraints of applicable laws and regulations. A final formal audit is conducted during the 10th year of operation prior to close out of the COE.

Records:

Technical and financial records must be retained for a minimum of 3 years (or longer, depending on special situations) following termination of the Center of Excellence.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Public Law 101-508 has established the following equally weighted six selection criteria: (1) The extent to which the needs of the State in which the applicant is located are representative of needs of the region for improved air transportation services and facilities; (2) The demonstrated research and extension resources available to the applicant for carrying out this program; (3) The capability of the applicant to provide leadership in making national and regional contributions to the solution of both long-range and immediate air transportation problems; (4) The extent to which the applicant has an established air transportation program; (5) The demonstrated ability of the applicant to disseminate results of air transportation research and educational programs through a State-wide or region-wide continuing education program; and (6) The projects which the applicant proposes to carry out under the grant. 20.205 Highway Planning and Construction

(Federal-Aid Highway Program, Federal Lands Highway Program),.

FEDERAL AGENCY:

FEDERAL HIGHWAY ADMINISTRATION, TRANSPORTATION,
DEPARTMENT OF
AUTHORIZATION:

Fixing Americas Surface Transportation Act (FAST Act), Public Law 114-94, 23 USC Code 104.

OBJECTIVES:

This Assistance Listing encompasses several transportation programs: 1) Federal-aid Highway Program: The purpose of the Federal-aid Highway Program is to assist the States in providing for construction, preservation, and improvement of highways and bridges on eligible Federal-Aid routes, (including the National Highway System (NHS) - an integrated, interconnected transportation system important to interstate commerce and travel), and for other special purpose programs and projects. This program also provides for the construction and improvement of highways in the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, American Samoa, Guam, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands and the U.S. Virgin Islands. 2) The Federal Lands Highway Program: The Federal Lands Transportation Program (FLTP) provides assistance to the Federal Land Management Agencies (FLMAs) for Federally-owned roads and trails. It provides transportation engineering services and funding for planning, design, construction, and rehabilitation of the highways and bridges that are on or provide access to federally owned lands. The Federal Lands Highway organization also provides training, technology deployment, and engineering services to other customers. 3) The FAST Act established two new freight programs: the formula-based National Highway Freight Program (NHFP) which provides funds to the States to improve efficient movement of freight on the National Highway Freight Network (NHN); and the discretionary Nationally Significant Freight and Highway Projects (NSFHP) program which provides targeted investment to freight projects on the NHFN as well as highway and bridge projects on the NHS and railway-highway grade crossing or grade separation projects. The FAST Act also continues to focus the program on safety and performance-based investment and on accelerating project delivery through expedited environmental review and elimination of duplicate processes. 4) The Highway Infrastructure Programs in the Department of Transportation Appropriations Act, 2018, included two new discretionary programs: Competitive Bridge Program and Nationally Significant Federal Lands and Tribal Projects Program. The Competitive Bridge Program was appropriated $225 million to be used for highway bridge rehabilitation or replacement projects for States that have a population density of less than 100 individuals per square mile and that demonstrate cost savings by bundling multiple highway bridge projects. The Nationally Significant Federal Lands and Tribal Projects Program was appropriated $300 million for projects eligible under section 1123 of the Fixing Americas Surface Transportation (FAST) Act.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Formula Grants, Project Grants, Salaries and Expenses

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

1) Federal-aid highway funds may be used for environmental studies, engineering and design services, right-of-way acquisition and relocation assistance, and construction for capital improvement projects classified as new construction, reconstruction, restoration, rehabilitation, resurfacing and preservation, or for functional, geometric, or safety reasons. Funds may also be used for planning; research, development, and technology transfer; intelligent transportation systems projects; roadside beautification; wetland and natural habitat mitigation; traffic management and control improvements; improvements necessary to accommodate other transportation modes; development and implementation of performance and asset management systems; billboard removal; construction of bicycle facilities and pedestrian walkways; fringe and corridor parking; car pool and van pool projects; transportation alternatives and enhancements such as scenic and historic highway improvements; and recreational trails. Funds generally cannot be used for routine highway operational activities, such as police patrols, mowing, snow plowing, litter control, or maintenance, unless it is preventative maintenance. Eligibility criteria for the various programs differ, so program guidance should be consulted. Federal-aid highway projects in metropolitan areas must be based on a transportation planning process carried out by a Metropolitan Planning Organization (MPO) in cooperation with the State, local officials, and transit operators. The projects must be included in the metropolitan transportation plan (MTP) and the transportation improvement program (TIP). Projects in non-metropolitan areas of a State must be consistent with a statewide transportation plan. Projects in both metropolitan and non-metropolitan areas must also be included in a fiscally constrained Statewide Transportation Improvement Program (STIP) developed as part of the required statewide transportation planning process. The FHWA and the Federal Transit Administration (FTA) must approve the STIP jointly. Projects under the FLTP are also subject to metropolitan and statewide planning requirements. 2) Funding from the National Highway Performance Program (NHPP) is generally limited to projects on the NHS, which includes the Eisenhower Interstate System. 3) Surface Transportation Block Grant Program (STBG) funds may be used on any Federal-aid highway or for bridges and tunnels on any public road. 4) Highway Safety Improvement Program (HSIP) funds are limited to projects that reduce traffic fatalities and serious injuries on all public roads, including non-State-owned roads and roads on tribal land. The HSIP requires a data-driven, strategic approach to improving highway safety on all public roads with a focus on performance. 5) Congestion Mitigation and Air Quality Improvement (CMAQ) Program funds are limited to projects and programs that reduce transportation related emissions air quality non-attainment and maintenance areas for ozone, carbon monoxide, and particulate matter, though provision is made for States without air quality issues. 6) Funding from the National Highway Freight Program (NHFP) is generally limited to projects that contribute to the efficient movement of freight on the National Highway Freight Network (NHFN), and are consistent with metropolitan and statewide transportation planning requirements. Beginning December 4, 2017, there are additional planning requirements related to the NHFP in that a State may not obligate NHFP funds apportioned to the State unless the State has developed a State Freight Plan (SFP). The NHFP strategically directs resources and policies to present solutions and strategies to address the infrastructure, institutional, and financial bottlenecks that hinder the safe and efficient movement of goods. 7) The FAST Act established the Nationally Significant Freight and Highway Projects (NSFHP) program to provide financial assistance competitive grants, known as FASTLANE grants, or credit assistance to nationally and regionally significant freight and highway projects that align with the program goals.

Applicant Eligibility:

Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; U.S. Territories and possessions (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); By law, the Federal-aid highway program is a federally assisted State administered program that requires each State to have a suitably equipped and organized transportation department. Therefore, most projects are administered by or through State transportation departments (State DOTs). Projects to be funded under the Federal-aid highway program are generally selected by State DOTs or MPOs, in cooperation with appropriate local officials, as specified in 23 U.S.C. and implementing regulations. Territorial highway projects are funded in the similar manner as other Federal aid highway projects, with the territorial transportation agency functioning in a manner similar to a State transportation department. Most FLTP projects are administered by the FHWA Office of Federal Lands Highway and its Divisions or by the various FLMA's.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

U.S. Territories; State; State transportation departments, and in some instances, Federal agencies, other State agencies, local agencies, and private, community-based organizations.

Credentials/Documentation:

Eligible activities and allowable costs will be determined in accordance with Title 23 and the OMB cost principles applicable to the recipient/sub-recipient. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. Environmental investigation, reviews, and consultations are required for most projects under this program and must comply with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, although the level of review varies with the project. Concerning Executive Order 12372 -- Projects under the FLHP have similar requirements; however, an interested applicant would need to contact the designated FLMA or the local FLH Division for more information.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The FHWA has a Stewardship and Oversight Agreement with each State that details the extent to which the State assumes the responsibilities of the FHWA for projects in that State. States may assume the responsibilities of the FHWA for oversight of design and construction for projects that are on the NHS, including the Interstate System, unless the State or the FHWA determines that such assumption is not appropriate. For projects that are not on the NHS, the State shall assume the responsibilities of the FHWA for oversight of design and construction, unless the State determines that such assumption is not appropriate. The State DOT may be required to submit statements of work and plans, specifications, and estimates for certain projects to their respective FHWA division office for approval.

Award Procedure:

The State DOTs generally decide which projects will be developed within funding categories and levels. The FHWA division office, located in each State, approves and executes a project agreement for each project before work can commence. There are several categories where funding is allocated at the discretion of the Secretary of Transportation and administered by the FHWA. When such funding is available, FHWA will solicit applications for candidate projects from the States. Projects administered by the FHWA Office of Federal Lands Highways or the FLMA's are subject to procurement processes identified in the Federal Acquisition Regulations. Project awards are subject to the availability of funds.

Reports:

SF-425 The FHWA division office in each State is responsible for the stewardship of Federalaid highway funds in that State. They accomplish this using a variety of techniques ranging from program, process, and compliance reviews to involvement in individual Federal-aid projects. State DOTs have assumed oversight responsibilities for most Federal-aid highway projects. The FHWA division office will retain project approval actions that are either required by Law or based on a risk approach. The FHWA division office also may retain additional project approval action or get involved in some projects that have been designated Projects of Division Interest based on a risk approach. Certain non-construction activities, such as transportation planning, require periodic progress reports. Similar procedures apply to the FLMA's and FLTP projects with the FHWA Office of Federal Lands Highways providing the mandatory stewardship and oversight. Value engineering (VE) is required for Federal-aid projects on the National Highway System (NHS) with a cost of $50 million or more; Federal-aid bridge projects on the NHS with a cost of $40 million or more; and Federal-aid major projects on or off the NHS. Although VE is not required on design-build projects,

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

FHWA does encourage that agencies perform a VE analysis. The FHWA Division Office may require VE reviews on projects below the minimum threshold if the project may benefit from the review. For more information visit: <http://www.fhwa.dot.gov/ve/>. Project sponsors must submit annual financial plans and project management plans to FHWA for all major projects. A major project is defined as any project receiving Federal financial assistance for construction, with an estimated total cost of $500,000,000 or more. In addition, project sponsors must prepare annual financial plans for all projects with an estimated total cost of $100,000,000 or more that are not designated as major projects. These annual financial plans must be submitted upon request by FHWA Division Offices. The FAST Act requires FHWA to establish national performance measures and standards for safety, infrastructure condition, congestion reduction, system reliability, and freight movement. State DOTs and MPOs will set individual performance targets and must make significant progress toward achieving targets established for the National Highway Performance Program and Highway Safety Improvement Program. State DOTs will be required to periodically report to FHWA on their progress toward the achievement of their targets. FHWA will use these progress reports and performance data to determine if the State DOT has made significant progress toward the achievement of their targets as well as meeting national standards.

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503

The Motor Carrier Safety Assistance Program (MCSAP) is a Federal formula grant program that provides financial assistance to States to reduce the number and severity of crashes and hazardous materials incidents involving commercial motor vehicles (CMV). The goal of the MCSAP is to reduce CMV-involved crashes, fatalities, and injuries through consistent, uniform, and effective CMV safety programs. Investing grant monies in appropriate safety programs will increase the likelihood that safety defects, driver deficiencies, and unsafe motor carrier practices will be detected and corrected before they become contributing factors to crashes.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2018: Fiscal Year 2018: Within the current fiscal (FY 2018), over 2 million CMV inspections have been conducted under the auspices of this program, leading to safer highways with over 400,000 out of service (OOS) violations issued. This data also feeds FMCSAs various safety data systems, allowing the Agency and its State partners to direct enforcement resources as necessary. The FMCSA has also launched its multi-year Commercial Vehicle Safety Plan (CVSP) project, allowing States to submit Plans (required for MCSAP eligibility) covering a three-year time span. This reduces administrative burdens on the State and FMCSA, while also enhancing the ability to effectively assess commercial vehicle safety impact over a specific time-period. Fiscal Year 2019: Fiscal Year 2019: In FY 2018, the FMCSA anticipates awarding funds totaling approximately $299 million, dependent upon appropriation levels and availability of funds. This total authorization is an increase compared to FY 2018 funding (as outlined in the FAST Act) due to increased program requirements and eligible activities on the part of grantees now allowed under the Act. Allocation amounts by State are determined by the final formula calculations as described previously. Information about the changes in the program can be found within the FMCSA Motor Carrier Safety Assistance Program Comprehensive Policy located on the FMCSA website <https://www.fmcsa.dot.gov/mission/grants/grantee-resources>. The FMCSA continues to expect increases in CMV safety activity, while striving to reduce the number of carriers operating under an out-of-service order. Further, an additional 13 States will begin the multi-year CVSP process, resulting in 31 States submitting three-year Plans.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

In accordance with 49 U.S.C. 31102(i) and grant/financial management requirements in 2 CFR part 200, each CVSP receives a fair, equitable and objective review prior to award approval. This review ensures that applicable statutory and regulatory requirements will be met and allowable CVSP projects and activities will succeed. The CVSP review process generally consists of a review in the following areas: 1) Application Review. The FMCSA reviews the CVSP and all supplemental attachments (e.g., forms and certifications) for completeness and to ensure that the MCSAP lead agency meets the basic eligibility requirements defined in the solicitation (notice of funding availability); 2) Programmatic Review. The FMCSA reviews the CVSP to make sure that the information presented is reasonable and understandable and the activities proposed in the application are measurable, achievable, and consistent with program or legislative requirements. The FMCSA evaluates the CVSP against the performance-based information required in accordance with 49 CFR 350.213; 3) Financial Review. The FMCSA evaluates the fiscal integrity and financial capability of a MCSAP lead agency, and reviews the CVSP details, including the budget and budget narrative, and any other documentation to examine costs for proposed project/program activities to determine if they appear reasonable, necessary, eligible and allowable for award. Note that approval of the CVSP is not a final approval of costs as defined in accordance with 2 CFR part 200 Subpart E (Cost Principles); and 4) Suitability Review in accordance with 2 CFR 200.205 is discussed in more detail in Chapter 7.3.

listing. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. Most Recreational Trails Program (RTP) projects qualify as Categorical Exclusions under the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA). Some projects may require Environmental Assessments. Projects that may have a significant environmental impact may require Environmental Impact Statements.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. For funds available to the States: The States must submit project proposals to the FHWA division office located in each State for approval. The State may submit individual projects or consolidate similar projects for the purposes of program approval. FHWA approval constitutes a commitment to pay the Federal share of the project's cost. The State's projects also must be included in State transportation improvement programs and applicable metropolitan transportation improvement programs. For FHWA's administrative, research, technical assistance, and training expenses, FHWA may enter into contracts with for-profit organizations or contracts, partnerships, or cooperative agreements with other government agencies, institutions of higher learning, or nonprofit organizations to perform these tasks. Contracts are announced through www.fbo.gov. Cooperative agreements are announced through www.grants.gov.

The project is 17.6 mile toll Tunnel. In December of 2016, a $307 million TIFIA loan was approved for the West Side Purple Line project. The Project entails the construction of the second section of a three-section, 9-mile underground heavy rail line that will extend the existing Metro Purple line along Wilshire Boulevard to a new western terminus in West Los Angeles near the Veterans Affairs Hospital in Westwood. Section 2 extends the line another 2.6 miles through the cities of Los Angeles and Beverly Hills and includes two new stations and the procurement of 20 heavy rail cars. In December of 2016, a $615 million TIFIA loan was approved for the Northgate project. The Project expands the Borrowers existing transit system in the Seattle, Washington, area, by adding 4.3 miles of light rail, running mostly underground, and three stations at Northgate Transit Center, Roosevelt neighborhood, and the University

District near the west side of the University of Washington Campus. In February of 2017, a $166 million TIFIA loan was approved for the Monroe Expressway project. The Monroe Expressway Project is a new, four-lane tolled expressway that will extend nearly 20 miles from US 74 near I-485 in Mecklenburg County to US 74 between the towns of Wingate and Marshville in Union County, North Carolina. In June of 2017, a $107 million TIFIA loan was approved for the C-470 Express Lanes project. The project is a 26-mile highway that runs along the southern and western part of the Denver metropolitan area, linking the intersection of I-25 and E-470 in the east, to the intersection of US-36 and I-70 in the west. The project is intended to deliver additional capacity along this congested corridor by adding express tolled lanes (ETLs) and improving road layout over approximately 11.2 miles of the highway. In June of 2017, a $100 million TIFIA loan was approved for the BelRed Street Network project. The City of Bellevue, Washington is developing the BelRed Street Network (Project), a combination of 12 multimodal roadways, to support the new BelRed neighborhood in the heart of the City. The Project, along with the introduction of East Link light rail by Sound Transit, is intended to provide a catalyst for redevelopment of the BelRed neighborhood to be connected, multi-modal, pedestrian-friendly, and transit-oriented.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 La Sal Mountain Loop Road, UT: Grand County Road 73/San Juan County Road B127 (La Sal Mountain Loop Road) is a primary access route to the Manti-La Sal National Forest near Moab in southeastern Utah. This route provides access to many recreational opportunities in the National Forest including hiking, rock climbing, camping, world class mountain biking, as well as providing a scenic and challenging road biking route that is used for many race events in the area. This project consists of 12.3 miles of the route and includes minor widening, pavement rehabilitation, retaining walls, drainage and safety improvements. The emphasis of the scope of this work is to improve the pavement condition as well as providing a consistent roadway section to improve safety. The pavement along this section of road varies in width and is in extremely poor condition with significant areas of transverse and longitudinal cracking, alligator cracking, bleeding, stripping, raveling, rutting, potholes, and edge deterioration. The project continues a strong partnership with both counties as well as the National Forest in delivering this exceptional project. 2018 Upper Hoh River Road, WA: The goal of this project is to preserve vehicular access to Olympic National Parks Hoh Rain Forest by addressing immediate access issues on the Upper Hoh Road along the Hoh River in Jefferson County, WA. The project will repair the four most critical infrastructure deficiencies along the Jefferson County segment of the Upper Hoh Road including: 1) Stabilize middle revetment segment at MP 4 by replacing dislodged riprap and installing three stream barbs; 2) Replace Tower Creek Bridge at MP 7.5 with single-span, 130-foot bridge on new upstream alignment; 3) Relocate the river channel away from the road at MP 7 by shifting the active river channel 400 feet with 4 to 6 engineered log jams; and 4) Replace Canyon Creek Culvert MP 10.23 with multi-span bridge, 160 to 180 feet in length. An infrastructure failure at any one of these sites could result in a long-term closure of the sole vehicular access to the Hoh Rain Forest. An estimated 85% of the traffic on the Upper Hoh Road enters Olympic National Park.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Each FLAP project is selected from a pool of applications submitted by the facility owner in response to a state-wide call for projects. The call for projects frequency is determined by the PDC based on the funds available. The applications are screened, rated, and ranked using the PDC approved rating criteria. The PDC agrees which projects met the established State program goals and conformed to the project ranking criteria. Based upon these evaluations, the proposed projects are recommended for programming within the available funding for each State.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

All discretionary (competitive) grant program applications undergo a series of reviews prior to award selection as required in 2 CFR 200.204 and 205. These reviews include: 1) technical review that provides an independent assessment of the technical/programmatic merit of an application. At least three qualified individuals are selected to review each application to ensure diversity of perspective and knowledge. Individuals are selected based on their technical education and experience and the extent to which the individual has engaged in relevant work, the capacities in which the individual has done so, and the quality of such work; 2) suitability review that provides a risk assessment on each applicants organization to ensure the applicant is suitable to receive and manage Federal funds. The risk assessment is conducted in several parts: 1) a debarment and suspension review that included a review of the applicants administrative capability self-certification and a check against the applicants records in the System for Award Management (www.sam.gov); 2) a review of the applicants history with other Federal agencies in the Single Audit Clearinghouse Database; and 3) an evaluation of the applicants Single Audit in accordance with the Single Audit Act; 3) past performance review that provides information that is considered as a possible indicator for predicting future performance. Many applicants for FMCSA programs have received FMCSA funding in the past and will be evaluated against their ability to complete prior year awards on-time, compliance with grant terms and conditions, and results from FMCSA grant monitoring activities. Applicants with no prior FMCSA grant awards will not be eliminated from funding consideration; and 4) budget/cost analysis that provides an assessment of allowable costs in accordance with Federal grant requirements, the cost realism of the budget estimate, appropriateness and reasonableness of resources, and reasonableness and feasibility of the schedule relative to the application timeline. Importantly, the budget evaluation provides initial insight to project-related risk, beyond those dealing with technical uncertainty, which is considered prior to recommendation. Application budgets are evaluated based on the same standards to which recipients will be held after award, which are outlined in the cost principles at 2 CFR part 200.101(c) Subpart E for all non-Federal entities, including commercial organizations.

The Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administrations objective is to ensure motor carriers operating commercial vehicles entering the United States from a foreign country are in compliance with commercial vehicle safety standards and regulations, financial responsibility regulations and registration requirements of the United States, and to ensure drivers of those vehicles are qualified and properly licenses to operate the commercial vehicle. The Border Enforcement Grant program purpose has been incorporated into the FMCSA Motor Carrier Safety Assistance formula grant program and the FMCSA High Priority grant program due to changes in FMCSAs authorization under the Fixing Americas Surface Transportation Act (Pub. Award Procedure:

The amount of the award to a qualifying applicant will be based on a panel review of all applications received, recommendations of the panel, and funding availability. The panel will prioritize funding request based on the State or entitys performance on previous BEG awards; their ability to expend the awarded funds within the BEG performance year; and, national criteria established by the FMCSA as follows: Increasing the number of inspections of motorcoaches engaged in international commerce (travel). FMCSA previously established a goal for this effort to be a minimum of five percent of the total BEG inspections to be conducted at or within the commercial zones of international crossings. For FY 2014, FMCSA encourages States examine their data on international motorcoach activity and to use that data to establish reasonable goals that will result in an increase of motorcoach-focused activities. In the application, States must substantiate the goals set and provide the data (or data source references). Increasing the number of Level 1 and 2 inspections supported by BEG funds. Level 3 inspections are strongly discouraged as part of BEG-supported strategies. Level V inspections are not permitted with BEG funds. Targeting CMV inspections within corridors where the data indicate that there are a high number of crashes involving vehicles engaged in international commerce. Improving the capability to conduct CMV safety inspections at remote and other sites near the Canadian and Mexican borders. If included, the application should establish a data-driven reason why non-fixed location inspections will increase the likelihood of reducing crashes, injuries, and fatalities involving vehicles engaged in international commerce. Other activities or initiatives designed to improve the compliance of CMVs, drivers, and carriers entering the U.S. from Canada or Mexico.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 Funded a community college to recruit, train, and place up to 118 veterans at a cost of $1,160 per student for in-state tuition and $3,465 per student for out-of-state tuition. The community colleges curriculum included 96 classroom hours and 288 hours of off-road and behind-the-wheel training. The community college is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and has an on-campus Office of Veterans Affairs and there are three military bases within 50 miles. The community college uses print and social media and job fairs to recruit students and partners with potential employers to assist graduates with job placement. 2018 N/A applications are still under review; no substantive changes to the programs priorities is expected.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

All discretionary (competitive) grant program applications undergo a series of reviews prior to award selection as required in 2 CFR 200.204 and 205. These reviews include: 1) technical review that provides an independent assessment of the technical/programmatic merit of an application. At least three qualified individuals are selected to review each application to ensure diversity of perspective and knowledge. Individuals are selected based on their technical education and experience and the extent to which the individual has engaged in relevant work, the capacities in which the individual has done so, and the quality of such work; 2) suitability review that provides a risk assessment on each applicants organization to ensure the applicant is suitable to receive and manage Federal funds. The risk assessment is conducted in several parts: 1) a debarment and suspension review that included a review of the applicants administrative capability self-certification and a check against the applicants records in the System for Award Management (www.sam.gov); 2) a review of the applicants history with other Federal agencies in the Single Audit Clearinghouse Database; and 3) an evaluation of the applicants Single Audit in accordance with the Single Audit Act; 3) past performance review that provides information that is considered as a possible indicator for predicting future performance. Many applicants for FMCSA programs have received FMCSA funding in the past and will be evaluated against their ability to complete prior year awards on-time, compliance with grant terms and conditions, and results from FMCSA grant monitoring activities. Applicants with no prior FMCSA grant awards will not be eliminated from funding consideration; and 4) budget/cost analysis that provides an assessment of allowable costs in accordance with Federal grant requirements, the cost realism of the budget estimate, appropriateness and reasonableness of resources, and reasonableness and feasibility of the schedule relative to the application timeline. Importantly, the budget evaluation provides initial insight to project-related risk, beyond those dealing with technical uncertainty, which is considered prior to recommendation. Application budgets are evaluated based on the same standards to which recipients will be held after award, which are outlined in the cost principles at 2 CFR part 200.101(c) Subpart E for all non-Federal entities, including commercial organizations.

The Short Line Safety Institute will: Further develop expertise in education and training, communication, and research and share that expertise with Class II and Class III railroads. Retain additional personnel to: conduct additional assessments, provide education and training, enhance the research capabilities of SLSI, and disseminate proactive and interactive communications to Class II and Class III railroads; and Create benchmarks and objectives to measure the progress and effectiveness of the SLSIs programs. Transportation Research Boards Safety IDEA (Ideas Deserving Exploratory Analysis) program to improve railroad safety has not selected projects for FY18. 2017 With congressional funding, the Short Line Safety Institute (SLSI) functions to (a) conduct on-site assessments of safety culture, and (b) provide safety education for managers and employees of short line and regional railroads.

While the large Class I railroads have invested millions to improve their safety culture over the last decade, Class II and III railroads often lack the resources to make the same investment. The SLSI was formed to fill this need for the smaller railroads. Refine the air-coupled prototype based on the lessons learnt from the planned fall 2015 field test, and develop and test a ruggedized version of the system for transitioning to industry and commercialization. The Transportation Research Boards Safety IDEA (Ideas Deserving Exploratory Analysis) program to improve railroad safety provides grants for innovative research ideas. Currently, there are four active projects through this grant: Adaptive Prestressing System for Concrete Cross-ties Prototype System for Managing Enterprise Rail Transport Risks for Hazmat Non-contact Deflection Monitoring System for Timber Railroad Bridges Intelligent Systems for Railroad Bridge Inspections.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

In descending order of relative importance: (1) Degree to which it may improve upon or advance railroad safety; (2) Overall scientific and/technical merit; (3) Likelihood for its near term adoption and implementation of possible recommendations; (4) Degree to which the proposed project fits into the Administration's overall research objectives; (5) Reasonableness and realism of the proposed cost, and the availability of funds (to include due consideration for proposed cost-sharing by the applicant).

management and delivery. Amtrak also developed an Enterprise Portfolio Inventory Dashboard, a tool that enables Amtrak, FRA and various stakeholders to track and manage Amtraks investment and annualized maintenance programs and projects. Additionally, as part of the reorganization Amtrak elevated oversight and management of the ADA Stations Program at the Vice President level which further demonstrated the organizations commitment to the ADA Stations Program at the highest levels of the organization. The ADA Stations Program was developed in order to bring the stations Amtrak serves and for which it has ADA responsibility into compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA) in the timeliest, integrated and efficient way possible. FRA provides continuous oversight of all ADA implementation activities throughout the lifecycle of each project. Fiscal Year 2018: In FY2018 the grantee defined and identified 37 capital investment and annualized maintenance programs for its National Network and Northeast Corridor accounts. The programs combined consists of more than 200 projects for implementation along the National Network and Northeast Corridor. For example, the recipients maintenance and capital improvement program includes but is not limited to Bridges, Culverts, and Tunnels, Track Replacement, Railway Infrastructure Equipment, Locomotive Program, Mechanical Facility Improvements, ADA and Debt Service. The recipient anticipates capital investment and annualized maintenance implementation and construction cost of 1.5B. The aim of the recipients ADA Stations Program is to ensure all train stations and passenger facilities comply with Federal ADA guidelines, regulations and statutory requirements. For FY2018, the recipient identified and will take active measures to bring 22 stations into compliance. The grantee is mandated to spend no less than 50M annually on ADA activities. 20.321 Railroad Safety Technology Grants

FEDERAL AGENCY:

FEDERAL RAILROAD ADMINISTRATION, TRANSPORTATION,
DEPARTMENT OF
AUTHORIZATION:

Section 105 of the Rail Safety Improvement Act of 2008 as modified by the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2016, Division L, Title I (Public Law 114-113 (December 18, 2015), Public Law 114-113, 49 USC Code 20158.

OBJECTIVES:

To facilitate the deployment of train control technologies, train control component technologies, processor-based technologies, electronically controlled pneumatic brakes, rail integrity inspection systems, rail integrity warning systems, switch position indicators and monitors, remote control power switch technologies, track integrity circuit technologies, and other new or novel railroad safety technology.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The Railroad Safety Technology Grants Program funds projects that enhance railroad safety by implementing a Positive Train Control (PTC) system or benefiting overall PTC implementation on freight, intercity passenger, and commuter railroads. These projects focus on development and deployment of technologies that will lower the costs, speed implementation, increase interoperability, and improve the reliability of PTC systems. The FRA is particularly interested in development and deployment on the following topics related to PTC: elimination of PTC communications interference; configuration management of multi-railroad PTC software and firmware deployments; and host-tenant railroad PTC interoperability/system certification. In addition, the establishment and management of collaborative interoperability coordination groups, that may be used to resolve industry-wide PTC technical and management issues, were eligible for funding. Examples of eligible projects include the following: Costs for implementation, installation, and testing of PTC systems; Costs for shared PTC infrastructure (e.g., back office systems, CAD systems); and Costs to advance PTC interoperability, such as pilot programs, standardization committees, development of standard processes, and spectrum acquisition, sharing, and desensitization.

Applicant Eligibility:

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Profit organization; Interstate; Intrastate; State; Local; Passenger and freight railroad carriers; Railroad suppliers; and State and local governments for projects that have a public benefit of improved safety and network efficiency. To be eligible for assistance, the above entities subject to 49 U.S.C. 20157(a) must have submitted a revised Positive Train Control Implementation Plan (PTCIP) to FRA as required by 49 U.S.C. 20157(a). FRA considers the development and submission of a revised PTCIP under 49 U.S.C. 20157(a) to meet the eligibility requirement related to submitting a plan required under 49 U.S.C. 20156(e)(2) containing an analysis of the impact, feasibility, costs and benefits of implementing PTC system technology. FRA believes that any submission connected to sec. 20156(e)(2), which has yet to be incorporated into a Federal regulation, would merely be duplicative of what a railroad analyzed when it developed and submitted a revised PTCIP. Thus, FRA considers the submission of a revised PTCIP to meet the eligibility requirements in 49 U.S.C. 20158(b)(3) for purposes of this NOFO. If an applicant is not required to comply with either sec. 20157(a) or sec. 20156(e)(2), the applicant must demonstrate that to FRA's satisfaction in its NOFO application Individuals are not eligible for these awards

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Projects must meet the project justification, local financial commitment, and process criteria established in Section 5309, and should be consistent with Executive Order 12893, Principles for Federal Infrastructure Investments, issued January 26, 1994. Firm funding commitments, embodied in FFGAs or SSGAs, will not be made until the project sponsor has demonstrated that its project is ready for such an agreement, i.e., the projects development and design have progressed to the point where its scope, costs, benefits, and impacts are considered firm and final. The three urbanized areas are coordinating their planning to ensure optimal use of resources to meet elderly & disabled transportation needs in accordance the ADA requirements. Statewide funds are also being used to develop the STIP, initiate coordination, conferences, provide technical assistance and training and provide oversight of the regional transportation process. 2018 A state DOT applied for an FTA Metropolitan and Statewide planning grant to develop UPWPs, Metropolitan Plans, and TIPs for the urbanized areas of the state, to employ consultants for the development of certain planning products such as transit development plans, to conduct a commuter service feasibility study in a particular corridor, and to develop area needs assessment studies for several MPOs.

AUTHORIZATION:

The Moving Ahead for Progress in the 21st Century Act (MAP-21), Pub. L. 112-141, signed into law on July 6, 2012, and effective October 1, 2012, and the Safe, Accountable, Flexible, Efficient Transportation Equity Act: A Legacy for Users (SAFETEA-LU), Public Law 112-141, 49 USC Code 5312-5314, 5322. The Fixing Americas Surface Transportation (FAST) Act (Public Law No. 114-94), signed into law on December 4, 2015, and effective October 11, 2015, 49 U.S.C. Section 5312/FAST Section 3008 and Section 5314/FAST Section 3009., Public Law 114-94, 49 USC Code 5312 & 5314.

OBJECTIVES:

The Federal Transit Administration's Research, Development, Demonstration, Deployment, Cooperative Research, Technical Assistance, Standards Development, and Human Resources and Training programs are authorized at 49 U.S.C. 5312, 5313, 5314, and 5322 and collectively seek to develop solutions that improve public transportation. Its primary goals are to increase transit ridership, improve safety and emergency preparedness, improve operating efficiencies, protect the environment, promote energy independence, and provide transit research leadership; develop and conduct workforce development activities, training and educational programs for Federal, State, and local transportation employees, United States citizens, and foreign nationals engaged or to be engaged in Government-aid relating to public transportation work; and to sponsor development of voluntary and consensus-based standards to more effectively and efficiently provide transit service, as well as support the improved administration of Federal transit funds. To accomplish this, FTA funds projects to support research and development, demonstration, deployments of various technologies and operational models for transit; a national cooperative research program, a national training institute, national technical assistance centers, and transit workforce development programs. The Research, Development, Demonstration, and Deployment Projects program (49 U.S.C. 5312) supports research not generally undertaken by the private sector including studies on transit policy issues, operational efficiency, and travel behavior. These projects will promote the use of clean energy and air quality improvement. The program also funds long-term, high-risk, high-potential payoff investigations of new technologies, which is critical to developing a public transportation system that is efficient, attractive, and reliable. The majority of the funds (75 percent) appropriated under 49 U.S.C 5338 to support this section, must be used for a discretionary Low and No Emission deployment program. The Transit Cooperative Research Program (TCRP) (49 U.S.C 5313) funds shorter-term research projects that address immediate operational issues facing the transit industry. These projects are designed to identify immediate improvements in transit safety, equipment and system design, system operations, and the economic development impact of transit investments, among other topic areas. These funds are awarded to the National Academies of Science. The Technical Assistance and Standards (49 U.S.C. 5314) funds support provide resources and direct assistance to support compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), human services transportation coordination requirements, the transportation needs of elderly individuals, increased transit ridership, transportation equity needs, and any other technical assistance activities deemed necessary by FTA, such as improvements in safety and asset management. The Human Resources and Training program (49 U.S.C 5322) creates Ladders of Opportunity to help build pathways for job-seekers by leveraging opportunities in the transit industry in manufacturing, operations and maintenance. This program, among other activities, awards grants to transit agencies and other entities for workforce development programs and projects.

OBJECTIVES:

On October 1, 2013, the Job Access and Reverse Commute (JARC) Program was repealed by Congress under the Moving Ahead for Progress in the 21st Century Act (MAP-21). The JARC Program provided grants to local governments, nonprofit organizations, and designated recipients of Federal transit funding to develop transportation services to connect welfare recipients and low- income persons to employment and support services. Job Access grants finance planning, capital and operating cost of projects. The Reverse Commute grants assist in funding the costs associated with adding reverse commute bus, train, carpool or service from urban areas, urban, rural and other suburban locations to suburban work places. Projects meeting these objectives are now eligible for funding under Section 5307 and 5311.

AUTHORIZATION:

Section 3021 of the Safe, Accountable, Flexible, Efficient Transportation Equity ActA Legacy for Users (SAFETEA-LU) enacted August 10, 2005 [Public Law 109-59], established the Alternative Transportation in Parks and Public Lands program. The name of the program was changed to the Paul S. Sarbanes Transit in Parks under the SAFETEA-LU Technical Corrections Act, 2008. The Transit in Parks Program was repealed by Congress under MAP-21. Alternative transportation projects formerly eligible under Transit in Parks are now eligible under the Federal Highway Administrations Federal Lands Transportation Program and the Federal Lands Access Program., 49 USC Code 5320.

OBJECTIVES:

The Paul S. Sarbanes Transit in Parks Program was necessary because it addressed the challenge of increasing vehicle congestion in and around our national parks and other federal lands. Americas national parks, wildlife refuges, and national forests were created to protect unique environmental and cultural treasures, but are now facing traffic, pollution and crowding that diminishes the visitor experience and threatens the environment. To address these concerns, this program provided funding for the planning and capital costs of alternative transportation systems, such as shuttle buses, rail connections and even bicycle trails. The program provided grants to Federal land management agencies, including but not limited to the National Park Service, the Fish and Wildlife Service, the Bureau of Land Management, the Forest Service, the Bureau of Reclamation, and to State, tribal and local governments. The Transit in Parks Program was repealed by Congress under MAP-21, and FTA announced the final selection of competitive project awards on February 18, 2013. The federal funds provided through the SSO Formula Grant Program allows for eligible states to develop or carry out their SSO programs. The SSOs attended the annual SSO workshop to receive training and learn technical skills to enhance their ability to provide oversight of the rail transit agency within their jurisdiction. In addition, the SSO conducted their triennial SSO audits and some States conducted Safety and Security Readiness Reviews. Twenty-one States have obtained their Certification and the remaining nine will by April 2019.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Proposed grant activities must be used to develop or carry out State Safety Oversight programs that comply with the statutory requirements and advance a Safety Management Systems approach.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: The Bus Testing Facility conducted standardized tests and prepared 6 full, and 5 partial bus testing reports for buses that started testing in calendar year 2017. Fiscal Year 2018: The Bus Testing Program applies to recipients of FTA capital assistance who purchase new model transit buses or existing bus models being produced with a major change. As of December 31, 2017, testing was completed on 469 buses with over 9,500 bus failures identified. Of those failures, 46 could have resulted in serious injuries or significant property damage had they occurred in revenue service. Many of the other malfunctions would adversely impact transit service (e.g., resulting in road calls standing passengers), and all would increase maintenance costs by requiring corrective maintenance actions. The Bus Testing Program ensures that by testing new bus models before they are purchased, recipients and manufacturers can often address problems before the fleet is built, potentially saving the federal government and grant recipients considerable money and time and avoiding inconveniencing passengers. Fiscal Year 2019: The Bus Testing Facility will conduct standardized tests and prepare test reports for an estimated fifteen to eighteen transit buses.

REGULATIONS, GUIDELINES, AND LITERATURE:

The implementing regulation for the bus testing program is 49 CFR Part 665. Section 665.11 Testing Requirements: The process for requesting full testing of a new bus model, or partial testing of a previously tested bus model being produced with significant changes, has changed significantly with publication of the August 1, 2016 Bus Testing Regulation, also known as the "Pass/Fail" regulation. The Bus Testing Regulation states that it is the responsibility of the recipient in dealing with a manufacturer to determine whether a vehicle to be acquired is subject to the requirements of the regulation (49 CFR Part 665.7(b)). If a manufacturer or other entity is uncertain whether the change(s) to a bus model are major, they may request guidance from FTA in determining whether the proposed changes would require additional full or partial testing. This process is described in 49 CFR Part 665.21, which says: All requests for testing, including requests for full, partial, or repeat testing, shall be submitted to the FTA Bus Testing Program Manager for review prior to scheduling with the operator of the Bus Testing Facility. All test requests shall provide: oA detailed description of the new bus model to be tested oThe service life category of the bus oEngineering documentation characterizing all major changes to the bus model oDocumentation that demonstrates satisfaction of each one of the testing requirements outlined in section 665.11(a) [<https://www.transit.dot.gov/research-innovation/bus-testing-determination-and-authorization-process>]. FTA will review the request, determine if the bus model is eligible for testing, and provide an initial response within five business days. FTA will prepare a written response to the requester for use in scheduling the required testing. Then the requester will contact the operator of the facility with a letter requesting the required testing. When contacting the operator, the operator shall provide the manufacturer with: oA draft contract for the testing oA fee schedule oTest procedures for the tests that will be conducted on the vehicle. The operator shall process vehicles FTA has approved for testing in the order in which the contracts are signed.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 The Bus Testing Facility implemented the new program requirements outlined in the new Bus Testing Pass/Fail rulemaking. The demand for testing services is expected to remain strong with additional zero-emission bus models expected to enter the marketplace. Also, FTA is developing a standardized test request form that will be made available on the FTA external site. This form will incorporate comments from OMB and stakeholders during the previous information collection request. 2018 The Bus Testing Center tested new bus models and previously-tested models being produced with major changes and issue full and partial Bus Testing Reports. FTA will work to coordinate the testing and reporting procedures of the two new LoNo bus testing centers with the existing bus testing center. 2019 The Bus Testing Center will continue to test new bus models and previously-tested models being produced with major changes and issue full and partial Bus Testing Reports. FTA will work to coordinate the activities, and the testing and reporting procedures of the two new LoNo bus testing centers with the existing bus testing center.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Proposals for assistance must address evaluation criteria related to the capabilities of the bus testing facility, the technical capability, the staffing capacity, and financial cost efficiency of the operator to execute and report the results of fifteen full twelve-year service life tests a year within the allocated annual assistance budget for the program (currently $3,000,000) and the required 20% testing fee collected (non-federal). The evaluation criteria for the bus testing facility include: 1. transit automation development and demonstration projects. 2.Integrated Payment System Research This effort will integrate payment options for transit agency and other mobility providers at the regional and interregional levels to increase a seamless traveler experience, thus improving system wide mobility efficiency and performance.3.Advanced Propulsion Research With the goal of furthering the commercialization of zero-emission vehicles, FTA will evaluate its previously-funded low- and no-emission demonstration programs to better assist both grantees and the industry with capital equipment selection. In addition, FTA will begin a five-year program of testing and certifying a range of components specifically for use on low- and no-emission transit buses.4.Asset Management and Asset Innovation Research FTA will demonstrate the health monitoring of transit assets using advanced technologies, including sensors and the use of innovative construction techniques and new materials such as nano-particles, recycled polymers, and composites. Major advances have occurred in sensor technology, including strain gauges and unmanned vehicles (drones), increased processing power, and data analytic tools such as hand-held field devices to make real-time health monitoring of fixed and moving infrastructure/assets a viable alternative or complementary to existing visual inspection.5.Safety including the Safety Demonstration Program As the steward of the nations public transportation system, FTA is obligated to provide the resources necessary for safe, efficient, and effective operations for transit customers, employees, and others through safety regulation. The goals of FTAs Safety research program are to improve public transportation safety and support its regulatory role as well as its responsibility to develop a safety oversight framework. The safety programs objectives are to improve public safety by reducing transit-related injuries and fatalities, increase safety events, and improve system reliability. The safety demonstration program builds a portfolio of demonstration projects that assist transit agencies to 1) improve operational safety, 2) strengthen infrastructure resiliency, and 3) improve the state of good repair for transit assets. Fiscal Year 2019: FTA will continue to fund research that supports the Department of Transportation goals of:Safety: Reduce Transportation-Related Fatalities and Serious Injuries Across the Transportation System.Infrastructure: Invest in Infrastructure to Ensure Mobility and Accessibility and to Stimulate Economic Growth, Productivity and Competitiveness for American Workers and Businesses.Innovation: Lead in the Development and Deployment of Innovative Practices and Technologies that Improve the Safety and Performance of the Nation's Transportation System.Accountability: Serve the Nation with Reduced Regulatory Burden and Greater Efficiency, Effectiveness and Accountability.Through FTAs research primary program areas of: Mobility Innovation, Safety, and Infrastructure. Anticipated program accomplishments for FY 2019 include:1.Improving transit operations and reduce costs by leveraging public and private assets and technologies.2.Improving personal mobility by identifying and promoting seamless transportation models that engages all modes public and private - for enhanced mobility of all travelers.3.Operating systems in a safer manner through improved:oApplication of advanced technologies and innovative practicesoSafety culturesoHuman factors.4.Reducing injuries and fatalities by using:oInnovative technologies to improve worker safetyoInnovative technologies to improve rider safety.5.Improving lifecycle maintenance by evaluating methods, products, approaches, and practice to develop products or service more efficiently.6.Enhancing the environment by providing mechanisms for mainstreaming and determining performance specifications for low and no emission transit bus components through university-based laboratory testing.7.Improving the build and project approval process.8.Stimulating economic growth.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Formula Grants, Formula Grants (Health Incentive Grants)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The Federal Pipeline Safety Law authorizes Federal reimbursement of up to 80 percent of a State's expenditure during the year for personnel, equipment, and activities reasonably required by the State agency for the conduct of its pipeline safety program. The Law further stipulates the State expenditures in any given year, without Federal assistance, cannot be less than the average amount expended by the State for gas and hazardous liquid safety programs for the 3 fiscal years prior to the fiscal year in which the Secretary makes the payment, except when the Secretary waives this requirement. The State agency must also agree to provide the remaining cost of the safety program(s). Within these limitations, the available funds are allocated by a method designed to reflect the degree to which a State has met certain established goals. The allocation is determined by assigning point values to the States for having achieved certain levels of program participation, dividing this point score by the sum of the States' point scores, and multiplying this ratio by the funding amount available for the distribution. PHMSA distributes remaining funds according to certain criteria designed to seek improvements in State programs. The criteria used by PHMSA is the extent of intrastate jurisdiction, inspector qualifications, recommended number of inspection person-days, State adoption of applicable Federal regulations, and other relevant criteria. In 2016, the Federal allocations represented 67.42 percent of the total estimated State requests in the natural gas program. The Federal allocation in the hazardous liquid program represented 67.34 percent of the total estimated State requests.

Applicant Eligibility:

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 There are 50 State Pipeline Safety Programs that participate in the grant resulting in safety oversight for over 2 million miles of pipeline. The State Base Grant is to support State Pipeline Safety Programs which are certified through PHMSA to inspect and enforce the pipeline safety regulations under the States safety authority. All States currently participate in the pipeline safety program except Alaska and Hawaii. This is a recurring grant which has been in place for over 30 years. The Grantees are provided with specific notification of the grant availability and webinars supporting their grant applications. 2018 No current data is available.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

All reasonable expenses from Certified State pipeline safety regulatory agencies are considered for funding to the limit of available grant funding. Indirect cost reimbursement is limited to 20% of the actual total direct program costs per the Guidelines for States Participating in the Pipeline Safety Program. This is a formula grant and funding is distributed among Certified State Pipeline Safety Programs based on their performance scores. Pipeline Safety Grants are awarded based on the following formula: Grant Award = State Budget Amount * State Performance Score * Percent Allocation Where Percent Allocation (80% Maximum) = Total Available Funding / Sum of All Programs (State Score * State Budget) / State Budget Amount = Calendar Year Budget Estimate

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Submitted by each State with Grant Application Annual State Performance Score Outlined in Section 9.7.2 Percent Allocation This is the maximum percentage of total program costs that can be applied to each grantee. There is an 80% maximum funding limited required by Section 60107 of the Pipeline Safety Act. This formula provides for an equal distribution of available funds in the event appropriated funding is less than required for maximum funding. Total Available Funding - This is the annual funding provided by congressional appropriation. This would also include any unexpended (carryover) funds available from previous fiscal years. The combined sum of each State Performance Score multiplied by each State Budget Estimate for all Natural Gas and Hazardous Liquid programs.

Hazardous Materials Instructor Training Grant (HMIT): To train the trainer that is, to train hazmat instructors who will then train hazmat employees in the proper handling of hazardous materials. Supplemental Public Sector Training Grants (SPST): to increase the number of hazardous materials training instructors, thereby increasing the number of training instructors available to conduct hazardous materials responder training programs for individuals with statutory responsibility to respond to hazardous materials accidents and incidents. Assistance for Local Emergency Response Training Grant (ALERT): to increase the number of emergency responders trained to respond to incidents or accidents involving the transportation of crude oil, ethanol and other flammable liquids by rail. EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 Projects to improve state damage prevention programs will be funded and are anticipated to include enforcement, education and outreach, and other safety programs. Past grant projects can be found at: <http://primis.phmsa.dot.gov/sdp/?nocache=2783&nocache=3193>.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Evaluation Criteria. The State Damage Prevention grant application process is competitive. Applications will be evaluated against the selection criteria listed below as well as against each other. Submission of an application is not a guarantee of award. PHMSA may award a grant based on an application in its entirety, award only portions of a grant application, or not award an application at all. Each Application will be reviewed against the criteria listed below. The criteria are weighted as follows: Criterion 1. is most heavily weighted; criterion 2 is second most heavily weighted; criterion 3 is third most heavily weighted; criterion 4 is fourth most heavily weighted; criterion 5 is fifth most heavily weighted. An effective damage prevention program as stated in 49 U.S.C. 60134 (b) includes one or more of the nine (9) elements below. Grant funding is available to assist state in aligning with one or more of these nine elements. The number of elements addressed in an application will not affect the evaluation of the application. Criterion 1. Relevance to the Nine Elements - This criterion will be used to evaluate proposed work under each element addressed on the application. This criterion will be used to evaluate proposed projects that: Clearly link results to one or more of the nine elements. Have merit for advancing implementation or continued support of one or more of the nine elements within the state. Align with the meaning and intent of the nine elements as described in PHMSA's Damage Prevention Assistance Program (DPAP) Guide (available at <http://primis.phmsa.dot.gov/comm/publications/DPAP-Guide-FirstEdition-20080911.pdf?nocache=6648>). Proposed work under each element will be evaluated separately. Criterion 2. Costs, Results, and Schedule This criterion will be used to evaluate proposed work under each element addressed in the application. This criterion will be used to evaluate proposed projects that: Will produce tangible results within the proposed project period. Establish clear goals, objectives, milestones, and estimates of project costs. Have deliverables that do not overlap with the deliverables of any other PHMSA grant award. Use funds efficiently and effectively. Proposed work under each element will be evaluated separately. Criterion 3. States Commitment to the Nine Elements - This criterion will be used to evaluate the applicants description of existing damage prevention activities as they relate to the nine elements. This criterion will be used to evaluate applications that demonstrate the State has made substantial progress toward, or has clear and concrete plans for, implementing the nine elements. Criterion 4. - States Commitment to Damage Prevention Program Effectiveness. This criterion will be used to evaluate the applicants description of any legislative or regulatory actions (including studies, etc.) taken by the State within the past five (5) years pertaining to damage prevention program improvement. This criterion will be used to evaluate applications that demonstrate the States commitment to ensuring lasting damage prevention program effectiveness and continuing improvement, including any legislative and/or regulatory actions taken within the past five years or other significant activities, such as efforts of study groups or task teams established to analyze the States damage prevention program. Criterion 5. Past Performance. This criterion will be used to evaluate past performance of applicants who have received a PHMSA State Damage Prevention grant in the past. Past performance includes fulfillment of grant agreements in a timely manner and compliance with grant terms and conditions. Applicants who received funding previously for a project that is ongoing and are requesting grant funding for the continuation of that project should provide a summary of accomplishments and tasks completed during the previous grant period. The information provided should include measurable results and deliverables, and also include any information about tasks that were not completed or other challenges encountered during the grant period. Evaluation of applications from applicants who have not received a PHMSA State Damage Prevention grant in the past will not be affected positively or negatively by this criterion.

20.724 Pipeline Safety Research Competitive Academic Agreement Program (CAAP)

Pipeline Safety Research Competitive Academic Agreement Program (CAAP),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

PIPELINE AND HAZARDOUS MATERIALS SAFETY ADMINISTRATION,
TRANSPORTATION, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Pipeline Safety Improvement Act of 2002, Public Law 107-355, 49 USC Code 60101.

OBJECTIVES:

The CAAP initiative is intended to spur innovation by enabling an academic research focus on high-risk and high pay-off solutions for the many pipeline safety challenges. It will potentially deliver solutions that can be hand-offs to PHMSA's core research program of demonstration and deployment. The goal would be to validate proof of concept of a thesis or theory all the way to commercial penetration into the market. Further, the pipeline industry and federal/state regulators are experiencing low numbers of applicants to entry level positions that are technically focused. As such, another goal of the CAAP program is to expose graduate and PhD research students to subject matter that is common to pipeline safety challenges and to illustrate how their engineering or technical disciplines are highly needed in the field. The ultimate benefit would be to cultivate new talent in all aspects of pipelining, similar to how programs at other Federal Agencies and non-profit organizations have encouraged talent to consider a career in a certain field.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements, Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Awards will be made in the form of cooperative agreements, which will play a role in finding the solutions to national, regional and local pipeline operational safety and environmental challenges. Some of these challenges involve having the best technology to efficiently and effectively meet or exceed Federal and State regulatory requirements. Other challenges are in keeping critical industry consensus standards fresh with the latest knowledge and know-how so that people, property and the environment are protected. Section 32 (f) of The Pipeline Safety, Regulatory Certainty, and Job Creation Act of 2011, signed into law in January 2012 (P.L. 11290 January 3, 2012) amends Section 12 of the Pipeline Safety Improvement Act of 2002 (49 U.S.C. 60101 note) by amending section(d) to add: (d)(3)(C) Funding From Non-Federal Sources. The Secretary shall ensure at least 30 percent of the costs of program-wide research and development activities are carried out using non-Federal sources. The 2011 Act also amends Section 12 of the Pipeline Safety Improvement Act of 2002 (49 U.S.C. 60101 note), subsection (f), by striking 2003 through 2006. and inserting 2012 through 2015.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); U.S. Territories and possessions (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Quasi-public nonprofit institution/organization; Applicants must be non-profit institutions of higher education located in the United States or a U.S. territory or possession.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

U.S. Territories; Private nonprofit institution/organization; Quasi-public nonprofit organization; Graduate Student; U.S. Citizen; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Solutions from academic research agreements to non-profit institutions of higher education will benefit the American public who has a stake in safe, reliable and environmentally friendly pipeline transportation of hydrocarbons.

OBJECTIVES:

To help small communities enhance their air service and increase access to the national transportation system.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Grants for specified use, provided on a reimbursable basis. Grant funds can be used to cover a variety of expenses depending on the approved project. For example, funds can be expended for marketing, advertising or promotional activities associated with current or new or existing air service, studies designed to measure air service deficiencies, or to measure traffic loss or diversion to other communities; and employment or use of consulting firms, universities, public relations firms, and new, dedicated air service development staff. In addition, grant funds may be used for financial incentives, including revenue guarantees to cover the air carrier's prospective operating loss, or to ground service providers in providing access to air transportation services.

Applicant Eligibility:

Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals; In order to qualify for a SCASDP grant: 1. The airport serving the community is not larger than a small hub airport, according to FAA hub classifications effective on the date of service of the Departments Solicitation (RFP) Order or as of calendar year 1997, the airport serving the community was not larger than a small hub airport; 2. The community has insufficient air carrier service or unreasonably high air fares; 3. The airport serving the community presents characteristics, such as geographic diversity or unique circumstances that demonstrate the need for, and feasibility of, grant assistance from the Small Community Program; 4. An applicant may not receive an additional grant to support the same project from a previous grant; 5. An applicant may not receive an additional grant, prior to the completion of its previous grant; Program Limits 1. In addition to the statute, the Department applies the following conditions: Communities without existing air service. Communities that do not currently have commercial air service are eligible. Small communities that currently receive subsidized air service under the Essential Air Service (EAS) or Alternate Essential Air Service (AEAS) program will not be considered for SCASDP funds. Consortium applications. The statute permits individual communities and consortia of communities to apply for grant awards under this program. An application from a consortium of communities must be one that seeks to facilitate the efforts of the communities working together toward a joint grant project. In other words, the application must set forth one grant project, with one joint objective, and establish one entity to ensure that the joint objective is accomplished according to the terms of a grant agreement. For example, several communities surrounding an airport may apply together to improve air services at that airport, with a joint objective of securing new or additional service to that airport. Or, surrounding airports may apply together in support of a regional plan to lower fares or reverse a decline in traffic. Multiple Applications: A community may file only one application for a grant, either individually or as part of a consortium. Prior grant recipients: Communities or members of a consortia, that were awarded grants in previous years and want to apply for a grant this year should be aware that they are precluded from seeking new funds for projects for which they have already received an award under the Small Community Program.

Private organizations may not be designated as the legal sponsor of a grant under the Small Community Program. The community has the responsibility to ensure that the recipient of any funding has the legal authority under state and local laws to carry out all aspects of the grant.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 Thirteen awards were made to communities proposing a revenue guarantee and/or marketing support as means to attract new carriers, restore lost service or capacity, and/or provide air travelers with access to additional markets. Three grants were made to communities to market existing air service at their airports. 2018 N/A

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

There are two categories of selection criteria: Priority Selection Criteria and Secondary Selection Criteria. Applications that meet one or more of the priority selection criteria will be viewed more favorably than those that do not meet any priority selection criteria. Priority Selection Criteria: 1. Air fares are higher than the national average air fares for all communities. The Department will compare the local community's air fares to the national average air fares for all similar markets. Communities with market air fares significantly higher than the national average air fares in similar markets will receive priority consideration. The Department calculates these fares using data from the Bureau of Transportation Statistics (BTS) Airline Origin and Destination Survey data. The Department evaluates all fares in all relevant markets that serve a SCASDP community and compares the SCASDP community fares to all fares in similar markets across the country. Each SCASDP applicant's air fares are computed as a percentage above or below the national averages. The report compares a community's air fares to the average for all other similar markets in the country that have similar density (passenger volume) and similar distance characteristics (market groupings). All calculations are based on 12-month ended periods to control for seasonal variation of fares. 2. The community or consortium will provide a portion of the cost of the activity from local sources other than airport revenue sources. DOT will consider whether a community or consortium proposes local funding for the proposed project. Applications providing proportionately higher levels of cash contributions from sources other than airport revenues will be viewed more favorably. Applications that provide multiple levels of contributions (state, local, airport, cash and in-kind contributions) will also be viewed more favorably. 3. The community or consortium has established or will establish a public-private partnership to facilitate air carrier service to the public. DOT will consider a community or consortium's commitment to facilitate air carrier service in the form of a public-private partnership. Applications that describe in detail how the partnership will actively participate in the implementation of the proposed project will be viewed more favorably. 4. The assistance will provide material benefits to a broad segment of the traveling public, including businesses, educational institutions, and other enterprises, whose access to the national air transportation system is limited. DOT will consider whether the proposed project would provide, to a broad segment of the community's traveling public, important benefits relevant to the community. Examples include service that would offer new or additional access to a connecting hub airport, service that would provide convenient travel times for both business and leisure travelers that would help obviate the need to drive long distances, and service that would offer lower fares. 5. The assistance will be used in a timely manner. The Department will consider whether a proposed project provides a well-defined strategic plan and reasonable timetable for use of the grant funds. In the Department's experience, a reasonable timetable for use of grant funds includes two years to complete studies, three years for marketing and promotion of the airport, community, carrier, or destination, and four years for projects that target a revenue guarantee, subsidy, or other financial incentives. Applicants are asked to describe how their projects can be accomplished within this timetable, including whether the airport and proposed air service provider have the requisite authorities and certifications necessary to carry out the proposed projects. In addition, because of this emphasis placed on timely use of funds, applicants proposing new service are asked to describe the airport and whether it can support the proposed service, including whether the airport holds, or intends to apply for, an airport operating certificate issued under 14 C.F.R. Part 139. Air service providers proposed for the new service must have met or be able to meet in a reasonably short period of time, all Department requirements for air service certification, including safety and economic authorities. 6. Multiple communities cooperate to submit a regional or multistate application to consolidate air service into one regional airport. DOT will consider whether a proposed project involves a consortium effort to consolidate air service into one regional airport. This is a new statutory priority criterion, added pursuant to Section 429 of the FAA Modernization and Reform Act of 2012 (P.L. 112-95). Secondary Selection Criteria: 1. Innovation. DOT will consider whether an application proposes new and creative solutions to the transportation issues facing the community, including: the extent to which the applicant's proposed solution(s) to solving the problem(s) is new or innovative, including whether the proposed project utilizes or encourages intermodal or regional solutions to connect passengers to the community's air service (i.e., cost-effective inter/intra city passenger bus service, marketing of intermodal surface transportation options also available to air travelers, or projects that have a positive impact on travel and tourism); and whether the proposed project, if successfully implemented, could serve as a working model for other communities. 2. Community Participation. DOT will consider whether an application has broad community participation, including: whether the proposed project has broad community support; and the community's demonstrated commitment to and participation in the proposed project. 3. Location. DOT will consider the location and characteristics of a community: the geographic location of each applicant, including the community's proximity to larger centers of air service and low-fare service alternatives; the population and business activity, as well as the relative size of each community; and whether the community's proximity to an existing or prior grant recipient could adversely affect either its proposal or the project undertaken by the other recipient. 4. Other Factors. DOT will also consider: whether the proposed project clearly addresses the applicant's stated problems; the community's existing level of air service and whether that service has been increasing or decreasing; whether the applicant has a plan to provide any necessary continued financial support for the proposed project after the requested grant award expires; the grant amount requested compared with total funds available for all communities; the proposed federal grant amount requested compared with the local share offered; any letters of intent from airline planning departments or intermodal surface transportation providers on behalf of applications that are specifically intended to enlist new or expanded air service or surface transportation service in support of the air service in the community; whether the applicant has plans to continue with the proposed project if it is not self-sustaining after the grant award expires; and equitable and geographic distribution of available funds. Full community participation is a key goal of this program as demonstrated by the statutes focus on local contributions and active participation in the project. Therefore, applications that demonstrate broad community support will be more attractive. For example, communities providing proportionately higher levels of cash contributions from other than airport revenues will have more attractive proposals. Communities that provide multiple levels of contributions (state, local, airport, cash and in-kind contributions) also will have more attractive proposals. Similarly, communities that demonstrate participation in the development and execution of the proposed air service project will enhance the attractiveness of their proposals.

20.932 Surface Transportation Discretionary Grants for Capital Investment

TIGER Grants (Transportation Investment Generating Economic Recovery),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY, TRANSPORTATION, DEPARTMENT OF

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants, Salaries and Expenses

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Under this program, $1,500,000,000 was available through September 30, 2011, for the Department to make grants on a competitive basis for projects that would have a significant impact on the Nation, a metropolitan area, or a region. Projects eligible for funding provided under this program included, but were not limited to, highway or bridge projects eligible under title 23, United States Code, including interstate rehabilitation, improvements to the rural collector road system, the reconstruction of overpasses and interchanges, bridge replacements, seismic retrofit projects for bridges, and road realignments; public transportation projects eligible under chapter 53 of title 49, United States Code, included investments in projects participating in the New Starts or Small Starts programs that would expedite the completion of those projects and their entry into revenue service; passenger and freight rail transportation projects; and port infrastructure investments, including projects that connect ports to other modes of transportation and improve the efficiency of freight movement. The Department also used an amount not to exceed $200,000,000 for the purpose of paying the subsidy and administrative costs of projects eligible for federal credit assistance under chapter 6 of title 23, United States Code, if the Department finds that such use of the funds would advance the purposes of this program. In distributing funds available under this program, the Department must take measures to ensure an equitable geographic distribution of funds and an appropriate balance in addressing the needs of urban and rural communities. Grants provided under this program generally were not less than $20,000,000 and not greater than $300,000,000, however, the Department waived the $20,000,000 minimum grant size for the purpose of funding significant projects in smaller cities, regions, or States. The Federal share of the costs for which an expenditure was made under this program

20.934 Nationally Significant Freight and Highway Projects

Infrastructure For Rebuilding America,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY, TRANSPORTATION, DEPARTMENT OF AUTHORIZATION:

The Fixing Americas Surface Transportation Act (FAST Act), Section 1105Nationally Significant Freight and Highway Projects (NSFHP) program, Pub.

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

L. 114-94, section 1105 (23 U.S.C. 117), Public Law 114-94, 23 USC Code 117.

OBJECTIVES:

The Nationally Significant Freight and Highway Projects (NSFHP) program will provide Federal financial assistance to projects of national or regional significance.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The FAST Act authorizes the Nationally Significant Freight and Highway Projects program at $4.5 billion for fiscal years (FY) 2016 through 2020, including $800 million for FY 2016 to be awarded by DOT on a competitive basis to projects of national or regional significance that meet statutory requirements. NSFHP grants may be used for the construction, reconstruction, rehabilitation, acquisition of property (including land related to the project and improvements to the land), environmental mitigation, construction contingencies, equipment acquisition, and operational improvements directly related to system performance. NSFHP grants may also fund developmental phase activities, including planning, feasibility analysis, revenue forecasting, environmental review, preliminary engineering, design, and other preconstruction activities, provided the project meets statutory requirements including that they are based on the results of preliminary engineering. All projects funded with NSFHP grants must be reasonably expected to begin construction not later than 18 months after the date funds are obligated for the project. The Department will divide grants under the NSFHP program into large and small projects. For large projects, the FAST Act specifies that NSFHP grants must be at least $25 million. For small projects, the grants must be at least $5 million. For both large and small projects, maximum NSFHP awards may not exceed 60 percent of future eligible project costs. Ten percent of available funds, approximately $76 million in FY 2016, are reserved for small projects. Applicants are strongly encouraged to submit applications only for eligible award amounts. Pursuant to the FAST Act, not more than $500 million in aggregate of the $4.5 billion authorized for NSFHP grants over fiscal years 2016 to 2020 may be used for grants to freight rail, water (including ports), or other freight intermodal projects that make significant improvements to freight movement on the National Highway Freight Network. Only the non-highway portion(s) of multimodal projects count toward the $500 million maximum. Improving freight movement on the National Highway Freight Network may include shifting freight transportation to other modes, thereby reducing congestion and bottlenecks on the National Highway Freight Network. The Federal share for projects that count toward the $500 million maximum may fund only elements of the project that provide public benefit. Grade crossing and grade separation projects do not count toward the $500 million maximum for freight rail, port, and intermodal projects. The FAST Act directs at least 25 percent of the funds provided for NSFHP grants, $190 million in FY 2016, are to be used for projects located in rural areas, as defined in Section C.3.iv. If the Department does not receive enough qualified applications to fully award the 25 percent reserved for rural projects, the Department may use the excess funding for non-rural awards. DOT must consider geographic diversity among grant recipients, including the need for a balance in addressing the needs of urban and rural areas. The FAST Act allows an NSFHP grant recipient to use NSFHP funds granted to pay the subsidy and administrative costs necessary to receive credit assistance for the associated project under the Transportation Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act of 1998 (TIFIA) program.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); State; Eligible applicants for NSFHP grants are 1) a State or group of States; 2) a metropolitan planning organization that serves an urbanized area (as defined by the Bureau of the Census) with a population of more than 200,000 individuals; 3) a unit of local government or group of local governments; 4) a political subdivision of a State or local government; 5) a special purpose district or public authority with a transportation function, including a port authority; 6) a Federal land management agency that applies jointly with a State or group of States; 7) a tribal government or a consortium of tribal governments; or 8) a multi-State or multijurisdictional group of public entities. Unless otherwise authorized in statute, local cost-share that exceed the 80 percent Federal-share maximum will not be considered matching funds if the source of those funds is ultimately a Federal program. Non-Federal sources include State funds originating from programs funded by State revenue, local funds originating from State or local revenue funded programs, private funds or other funding sources of non-Federal origins. Funds from the Tribal Transportation Program (23 U.S.C. 202), TIFIA, a Federal land management agency, or other Federal source that is expressly authorized in statute may be used for the non-Federal share. After accounting for FY 2016 and previous FY 2017 INFRA selections, approximately $326 million within this constraint remains available. Only the non-highway portion(s) of multimodal projects count toward the $500 million maximum. 21.016 Equitable Sharing

FEDERAL AGENCY:

Department of the Treasury, TREASURY, DEPARTMENT OF THE

AUTHORIZATION:

The Comprehensive Crime Control Act of 1984, 31 USC Code 9705.

OBJECTIVES:

The Department of the Treasury Asset Forfeiture Program is a nationwide law enforcement initiative that removes the tools of crime from criminal organizations, deters crime and deprives wrongdoers of the proceeds of their criminal proceeds, and recovers property that may be used to compensate victims. Equitable sharing further enhances the law enforcement mission by fostering cooperation among federal, state, and local law enforcement agencies. Federal law authorizes Treasury to share federally forfeited property with participating state and local law enforcement agencies. Equitable sharing is discretionary and limited by statute. The U.S. Department of the Justice administers a similar program.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Direct Payments for Specified Use

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The Comprehensive Crime Control Act of 1984 authorized federal officials to implement a national asset forfeiture program. One ancillary benefit of asset forfeiture is the authorization to share federal forfeiture proceeds with cooperating state and local law enforcement agencies, which provides agencies with valuable additional resources without burdening tax payer dollars. The Guide to Equitable Sharing for State and Local Law Enforcement Agencies (Guide) outlines the policies and procedures governing the receipt, use, maintenance and reporting of forfeited funds received through the Department of the Treasury Equitable Sharing Program (Program). The Guide is supplemented with the National Code of Professional Conduct for Asset Forfeiture and all Program participants must ensure compliance with the Code. Except as noted in the Guide, equitably shared funds must be used by law enforcement agencies for law enforcement purposes only. Permitted expenditures listed in the Guide are preapproved uses of shared funds and property, subject to policies and statutes governing the use of public funds. The fact that shared property was forfeited as a result of a particular federal violation does not limit its use.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federal; Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals; State; A state or local law enforcement agency meeting eligibility requirements set forth in the Guide and that directly participates in an investigation or prosecution that results in a federal forfeiture may request an equitable share of the net proceeds of the forfeiture. For purposes of equitable sharing, the Department of Treasury defines law enforcement agency as a state or local government organization authorized to engage in as its primary function the investigation and apprehension, or the prosecution of individuals suspected or convicted of offenses against the criminal laws of the United States or of any state, county, municipality, or territory of the United States. A State National Guard generally does not meet the law enforcement agency criteria for participation in the Program because its primary mission is a military or other non-law enforcement purpose. However, a National Guard Counterdrug Unit may qualify for sharing if: (1) It is a distinct unit of a state National Guard that has counterdrug activities as its primary mission and receives funding solely for this purpose; or (2) It is a military police or similar state National Guard unit that provides support to federal law enforcement agencies in counterdrug activities.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; State; Local; A state or local law enforcement agency meeting eligibility requirements set forth in the Guide and that directly participates in an investigation or prosecution that results in a federal forfeiture may request an equitable share of the net proceeds of the forfeiture.

Credentials/Documentation:

The federal deciding authority must approve all sharing requests and recommendations, including sharing percentages negotiated in a task force or other agreement, before sharing occurs. Sharing will only be awarded to agencies that are compliant Program participants in good standing with the policies set forth in the Guide. This program is excluded from coverage under 2 CFR 200, Subpart E - Cost Principles. This program is excluded from coverage under 2 CFR 200, Subpart E - Cost Principles.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. This program is excluded from coverage under 2 CFR 200. Uniform administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards. After the seizure or forfeiture of an identified asset, a participating state or local agency meeting all requirements set forth in the Guide may request a share of the property by submitting a Form TD F 92.26, Application for Transfer of Federally Forfeited Property, to the federal seizing agency. A separate Form TD F must be completed for each asset to be shared.

Award Procedure:

Federal law authorizes the Director of Executive Office for Asset Forfeiture to share federally forfeited property with participating state and local law enforcement agencies. The exercise of this authority is discretionary and limited by statute. No sharing request or recommendation is final until approved by the federal deciding authority. The equitable sharing deciding authority levels are specified in the Guide.

Deadlines:

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:
